Avowed Purpose of Getting Warring Factions into Harmony Camp.
Is Working For No Particular Candidate, but Wants Unity of Action in Convention—Wickersham Boom-let Makes Appearance.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Perry S. Heath's departure on a tour of the Pacific coast, the Rocky mountain, the northwestern states and other states west of the Missouri river, with a view to corralling unattached delegations to the national convention next June, is the very latest move of the Republican presidential situation.

Before leaving town Mr. Heath said that his tour was not in the interest of President Taft or Colonel Roosevelt, but that he represented Republicans who were inclined to believe that neither could or should be elected, and that the nomination should go to a candidate who could unite the discordant elements in the national party. Mr. Heath referred to the political end of the Republican party in most of the states which in a number of campaigns had given their electoral vote to the Republicans. He remarked that the Republicans in most of these states were torn by national disputes and that the Republican organizations in them had been almost shot to pieces within the last several years. Mr. Heath recounted the turmoil between the Taft and anti-Taft men, the disturbances between the Roosevelt and anti-Roosevelt men and the friction created by LaFollette and his followers, and so on down the list.

Mr. Heath added that his tour was in the interest of any single Republican presidential possibility, but that it represented a hope that the delegations from the states he is to visit will find it agreeable to leave themselves open to discussion and counsel when they arrive in the convention city.

New York, Jan. 6.—The just completed idea of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., to bring the sanitarium to the tubercular patient instead of sending the patient to the sanitarium, was shown to a reporter at the new East River home and the new John Jay park, where newspaper men were invited to inspect the new buildings. The unique idea has become a reality through the generosity of Mrs. Vanderbilt, and the home will be open about Jan. 15, free from any incumbrance.

Streetcar Dives From High Bridge

Four Persons Fatally Injured
at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 6.—While going over the Central bridge over the Ohio river, between Cincinnati and Newport, Ky., a South Bellevue streetcar jumped the track and was hurled from the bridge to the river bank at the foot of Ludlow street. The motorman, conductor and three passengers were seriously injured and four of them are reported to be dying at the Cincinnati hospital.

The injured are Barton Schroll, 29, secretary of the Central Bridge company, operating the bridge where the accident occurred, of Southgate, Ky., skull fractured and internal injuries; Edward Hapfel, 31, of Cincinnati, skull fractured, internal injuries; Henry Finnan, 28, motorman, Covington, Ky., skull fractured, multiple injuries; Harry Wessling, conductor, 27, Newport, Ky., fractured skull and multiple injuries; Sam Hollow, waiter, 24, Newport, multiple injuries.

The car was an extra, and as it reached the turn where the approach to the bridge curves at an angle of 45 degrees into Broadway, it left the rails, tearing down the four-foot iron rail at the side of the bridge, and jumped into space. It alighted top first on the river bank, 35 feet below.

New York, Jan. 6.—Fresh from the frigid northwest, where zero temperatures ruled, a gale froze up everything liquid except the salty waters of the Atlantic ocean.

The cold wave enveloped the entire continent. The coldest place on the map was Q'Appelle, away up in Saskatchewan, where the thermometer registered 30 degrees below zero. And it was not so warm in some parts of the states, notably at Moorehead, Minn., where it was 24 below; Williston, N. D., and Huron, S. D., where it was 20 below. Even Chicago had 8 below, and the mercury hit the bullseye at Dayton, O., and was only 2 above at Pittsburg.

Great Suffering at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 6.—The suffering caused by the sudden cold here is increased by the prospect of a gas shortage. Many sections are without gas and the enormous demand prevents any immediate relief. Pupils were dismissed from several schools because of lack of heat. Edward Lusher, 40, a lineman, his hands numbed, was blown from a telephone pole and suffered injuries in a 35-foot fall from which he died later. John Ziegler, 59, chilled and despondent, cut his throat and ankles with a pocketknife. He is expected to die.

Testing Twelve Inch Mortars At Fort Totten, Long Island

TWO forts guard New York from the approach of a hostile fleet by way of Long Island sound. They are Forts Totten and Schuyler, at the western end of the sound, the one on the Long Island side, the other on the mainland. When recently it became necessary to test the twelve inch mortars which form part of the defenses of Fort Totten great apprehension was felt by the residents of that part of Long Island adjacent to the fort lest harm should be done by the concussion caused by the discharges, but none resulted. The shock was so great, however, that most of the photographers present had the ground glass of their cameras shattered. These huge guns throw a 1,000 pound shot about five miles, and so accurately are they aimed that the officers directing the firing can predict within a few feet the spot where the projectile will fall.

WAR CONDITIONS IN CHINA NOW ACUTE

Revolutionary Situation Is Considered Critical.

KNOX READY TO ORDER TROOPS

Representative of Foreign Power Intimates to Minister Calhoun That Time Is Ripe For United States to Get Busy and Help Protect Railway Line Leading From Peking to Sea—Regiment at Manila Ready to Move at Moment's Notice.

Washington, Jan. 6.—In more acute form than at any time previously since the outbreak of the revolution, the question of sending American troops to China from the Philippines was brought before the state department, but Secretary Knox has not yet made up his mind what course he will adopt. It is expected that the question will be decided in the next 24 hours on receipt of further advices from Minister Calhoun at Peking.

It is understood that foreign interests are likely to be greatly endangered with the renewal of hostilities promised for today, and that fear of such menacing developments is responsible for the sentiment in favor of more foreign troops prevailing in Peking.

The war department stands ready to start troops from Manila to China on a few hours' notice. A regiment of 1,200 men, probably the Fifteenth infantry, commanded by Colonel Edwin Root, will be put on board the transport Thomas as soon as the state department makes request. From a week to 10 days will be required for the voyage from Manila to Tien Tsin.

Calhoun Cables Opinion.

Mr. Calhoun has cabled the department that he believes troops should be sent at this time. Furthermore, he said that the minister of another power represented at Peking had suggested that the United States is in duty bound to send troops to assist in keeping open railroad communication between Peking and the sea. The state department officials declined to name the legation from which this suggestion came. Surmise has named Japan as the power in question. This supposition is based on the fact that Japan has heretofore shown a disposition toward military occupation of Chinese territory by forces of the governments chiefly interested in the Chinese situation. It is also suggested that the suggestion made to the United States minister might have come from the British legation, as that government has in the last few days increased its military representation in China.

in Tennessee Try Hard to Break Into National Campaign Organization—St. Louis Representatives

Support of Claims For National Convention.

Washington, Jan. 6.—According to Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, there is every indication that the deliberations of the committee, which will begin at noon Monday, are to continue through a couple of days. This was also the opinion of Herman Ridder, treasurer, and Urey Woodson, secretary of the committee.

The contests for committeemen in Tennessee and Pennsylvania were filed with Mr. Mack. Each consists of 50 typewritten pages. R. E. L. Mountcastle of Tennessee and Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania called on Chairman Mack, and each contended that he had 27 votes at his back out of a total of 52.

Senator to Conduct Case.

As a matter of fact, Mountcastle is on the roll of the committee, and Colonel James M. Guffey is on the roll as national committeeman from Pennsylvania. John J. Vertrees, named by the Democratic state committee of Tennessee as Mountcastle's successor as national committeeman, and Representative Palmer, named as national committeeman by the Pennsylvania Democratic state convention, are to appear before the committee as contestants. Senator Taylor is to conduct the case for Vertrees, while Senator Lea of the same state is to make the fight to keep Mountcastle on the roll. Representative Palmer is to argue his own case and Colonel Guffey is to be represented by an able fighter.

Colonel Bryan, who is to arrive here tomorrow, favors retention of Mountcastle. At the same time he is opposed to the retention of Guffey.

The St. Louis folks who want the convention are in town, 100 strong. They brought their fat check of $150,000 with them. They caromed on to the Baltimore crowd, headed by Robert Crane, who had tucked away in his inside pocket a check for $100,000. Crane and the St. Louis folks in the corridors of the New Willard discussed the respective merits of their cities.

Garfield Drops In For a Few Minutes
Chat With Roosevelt.

New York, Jan. 6.—Colonel Roosevelt and James R. Garfield met at the Century club. Mr. Garfield arrived at the club first, then came the reporters and, last of all, Colonel Roosevelt. Many cold minutes passed until Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Garfield came out of the club together. When the reporters approached the two, Colonel Roosevelt held up a monitory hand.

"This will make it impossible for me to see any of you at any future time," he said, tucking his fur collar closer around his neck. "You should never attempt to see me at any private house or at any private club. Not another word."

Whereupon he got into his taxicab and sped away. Mr. Garfield chose another vehicle and did likewise. He said before speeding that whatever he had said to Colonel Roosevelt was not to be revealed.

MASONS WILL REBUILD

Work of Clearing Away the Debris Will Begin on Monday Morning

COMMODIOUS QUARTERS FOR STUTSON STORE

The Glad Tidings of the Directors Action Last Night Is Given to an Expectant People, Who Receive News Enthusiastically.

It will be pleasing news to all citizens of Washington, Fayette and adjoining counties to learn that the beautiful Masonic Temple will be rebuilt immediately, and that the Frank L. Stutson department store will occupy the first floor and basement, and the Washington Lodge of B. P. O. Elks will, in all probability, occupy the greater portion of the second floor, while the Masons' home and office rooms will occupy the remainder of the structure, which promises to be as large as before, and will probably be a fireproof structure.

A meeting of the Masonic Temple Trustees was held at the Odd Fellow building late Friday afternoon, and it was unanimously decided to rebuild the Temple, placing a gang of men at work Monday removing the debris in order that actual work may commence upon the new Temple as quickly as the weather will permit.

While no plans have been adopted, it is the intention of the company to erect a modern building, making it as near fireproof as possible, and having it tenanted by September 1st, 1912, or even before that date.

It was virtually agreed that the basement and first floor be constructed much after the old plan, only along more modern lines, with ample fire protection, and these to be tenanted by Mr. Stutson's large department store. Being entirely fireproof all fire dangers will be eliminated.

Mr. Stutson has not announced his plans for the intervening time until the new building is ready, but will have a statement to make next week after all insurance has been adjusted, and other business taken care of. It will then be known whether temporary quarters will be secured for use until the new Temple is ready for occupancy.

ELKS MEETING.

A meeting of the Elks was held in the Midland Bank business rooms Friday night, and a large number of Elks were in attendance. After thoroughly discussing the various propositions presented, it was unanimously decided to give preference to the Masonic Temple Company, which, it is understood, agreed to construct the second story of the Temple after plans approved by the Elks.

A committee consisting of Exalted Ruler Jess W. Smith and the three trustees, M. S. Daugherty, C. A. Gossard and M. J. Hagerty, was appointed to visit cities and towns with a view to gathering information in regard to modern quarters and lodge conveniences and arrangements and report to the lodge the result of their investigations.

More room and better lodge parlors than ever before, are contemplated.

The directors of the Masonic Temple Company are F. L. Stutson, president; C. E. Lloyd, vice president; J. C. Greiner, treasurer; E. L. Bush, secretary; W. H. Dial; A. T. Baldwin; W. W. Hamilton and L. C. Mallow. The action of the directors is received enthusiastically by the people.

A GIRL'S WILD MIDNIGHT RIDE.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Blackmer & Tanquary.

OPENED UP.

Having been burnt out in the Masonic Temple, I have opened quarters in the Pavey block, Room 9 and will be glad to see all my patrons.

Installation of Officers

Ladies of the G. A. R. and R. B. Hayes Post Hold Notable Annual Affair.

MANY ENJOY HOSPITALITIES

Friday night the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the R. B. Hayes Post held their annual joint installation in the G. A. R. hall.

Always a notable event in G. A. R. circles, Friday night proved no exception to the rule and the occasion was one fraught with much pleasure and stamped with the loyal good fellowship that is the indispensable adjunct of all G. A. R. functions.

Despite the zero night which caused deserted streets, a goodly number braved the biting cold and found in the cheer and warmth of the brightly lighted hall, rich compensation for their efforts.

The handsome gold fringed silk flags of the Post, half unfurled, decorated the stage, and smaller flags flaunted patriotic colors all over the large hall.

The installation ceremonies throughout were attended with much impressiveness. The Ladies of the G. A. R. were gallantly given precedence with Col. George F. Robinson installing officer.

The officers installed were Mrs. Mary Millikan, president; Mrs. Jane Irlons, senior vice president; Mrs. Fannie Robinson, junior vice president; treasurer, Mrs. Lida Dennis; secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Daugherty; chaplain, Mrs. Lucy A. Pruden; conductress, Mrs. Lucy Ginn; assistant conductress, Mrs. W. W. Millikan; guard, Mrs. E. W. Welsheimer; assistant guard, Miss Kate Williams.

In the installation of the R. B. Hayes Post No. 32, Capt. George C. Jenkins acted as installing officer, with Col. George F. Robinson officer of the day.

Colonel B. H. Millikan, whose earnest promotion of all G. A. R. interests, whether local or in broader circles, has gained for him more than ordinary prestige, as well as genuine affection in both the camps of the veterans and the ladies' circle, was installed as Post Commander.

Other officers installed were: Senior vice commander, R. S. Quinn; junior vice commander, E. W. Welsheimer; chaplain, John Neer; surgeon, W. H. Hughes; quartermaster, J. N. Wilson; officer of the day, R. H. Harrop; officer of the guard, H. E. Lydy; patriotic instructor, James Armstrong; adjutant, E. C. Hamilton.

Mrs. Harry Rogers furnished the installation music.

After the ceremonies the Post and the Circle jointly served a sumptuous turkey banquet, one of the most elaborate suppers ever served in the hall, of unstinted bountifulness and particularly enjoyed on the cold winter night.

The supper was served on the beautiful dishes with gold G. A. R. monograms, the gift of Col. Millikan. The G. A. R. ladies gave generously of their time and work to the success of the supper. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. J. F. Dennis, W. W. Millikan, M. S. Daugherty, Henry Robinson, H. L. Hadley.

After the supper the members of the order and their invited guests lingered for a greatly enjoyed social hour and it was well towards midnight before the successful installation and banquet was relegated to the annals of the past.

Lecture Course Number Changed

The great Katherine Ridgeway will be here on January 16th for the next number of the Washington Lecture Course, instead of the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party, booked for here on January 11th.

Tickets for the Kellogg-Haines entertainment will admit the bearer to the Ridgeway entertainment. There is no lady lecturer on the American platform who is so popular with Washington people as Katherine Ridgeway, and hundreds of people will be glad to hear of her return for the date above mentioned.

TELEGRAPH POLES TAKE ROOT

Telegraph poles that live and grow are a curiosity of African engineering. In Uganda a species of wild fig, locally known as the barkcloth tree, is used for poles, and ten years or more ago it was noticed that they took root and began to send out leaves and branches soon after being planted. Since then a line of more than 500 miles of these growing poles has been developed. It is troublesome to maintain, as the leaves cause frequent leakage by contacts, and poles are constantly dying and being eaten by termites. The first cost, however, is only 8 to 16 cents per pole, while an iron pole costs $3 to $7 or $8.

QUEER AMERICAN AEROPLANE

With a view to solving the problem of stability, an American airman, William P. Gary, has constructed a new three-decker aeroplane which, as our photograph shows, is enclosed in a circle. The motor is between the second and third planes, and the pilot's seat under the third plane. Both engine and seat are attached to a framework. The patent is in the hands of the Brothers Wright, and the machine is said to have gone through its trial trips very well.

WHERE LADIES SHAVE

Some of the East African ladies shave their heads with small, sharp, razor-like knives, first softening the hair with goat's milk. Other Africans keep it cut off to about two inches in length and slick down with vegetable oils. Girls of Fiji stiffen their locks with tree gums, and soft, fluffy hair is considered a curse. Somehow some of the races that have the stiffest hair try to make it stiffer, and those that have the softest try to make it like down, and still other races do just the opposite.

Hetteshimer is the jeweler who sells "Big Ben" alarm clock.

ARIZONA BRIDGE OF AGATE

The petrified forests of Arizona present some of the most marvelous evidence of volcanic action known to the world. Groves of giant trees, becoming solidified, have fallen of their own weight. One log which is probably the largest example of petrification has recently come to attention. It is 110 feet long, spans a "box canon" 60 feet wide, forming a convenient footbridge, and is really a mass of fine agate weighing hundreds of tons. The huge roots of the fallen monolith rise to a height of eight or ten feet at one end while the upper extremity of the trunk is buried in the soft formation of the land in which it grew. Its diameter is from five feet to two at the smaller end.

SEVEN YEARS OF SILENCE

That they lived together as husband and wife for seven years without speaking to each other, their only communication being by means of written notes, was one of the statements made by Mrs. Ellen Klitgaard in her application for a divorce from Carl E. Klitgaard, at San Francisco, recently. This silence, she declared, was enforced by her husband who ceased speaking to her soon after their marriage in 1903. He would not even receive the notes from her hand, compelling her to leave them in a designated place. One day she wrote to him: "How long are you going to keep this up?" "Forever," was the written reply.

WHERE EGGS ARE BLACK

Every one has heard of the black broth of the Spartans over which the fastidious Dionysius made a wry face, and was not convinced when told that it was enjoyable with Spartan sauce, the ingredients of which, in the Syracusean's opinion, could little alter the taste. The housewife would, however, probably be shocked to find the eggs left by the milkman jet black. The black Cayuga duck, a South American bird, frequently lays black eggs. The black coloring does not penetrate the shell, being due to an oily pigment which can be rubbed off. In successive layings the coloring fades and disappears.

Pounds Required For One Bushel

Since the deputy county sealer, weights and measures has commenced the work of testing weights and measures, the following weights necessary for one bushel of each article mentioned, are recognized as lawful and are standard weights.

Wheat, 60 pounds; rye, 56; oats, 32; clover seed, 60; timothy seed, 45; hemp seed, 44; millet seed, 50; buckwheat, 50; beans, 60; peas, 60; hominy, 60; Irish potatoes, 60; sweet potatoes, 50; onions, 55; dried peaches, 33; dried apples, 24; the seed, 56; barley, 48; malt, 34; Hungarian seed, 50; lime, 70; coke, 40; bituminous coal, 80; canned corn, 70; corn, shelled, 56; corn, ear, 56; pop corn, ear, 42; tomatoes, 56; apples, 50; peaches, 48; turnips, 60; carrots, 50; beets, 56.

MASONS WILL REBUILD

Work of Clearing Away the Debris Will Begin on Monday Morning

COMMODIOUS QUARTERS FOR STUTSON STORE

The Glad Tidings of the Directors Action Last Night Is Given to an Expectant People, Who Receive News Enthusiastically.

It will be pleasing news to all citizens of Washington, Fayette and adjoining counties to learn that the beautiful Masonic Temple will be rebuilt immediately, and that the Frank L. Stutson department store will occupy the first floor and basement, and the Washington Lodge of B. P. O. Elks will, in all probability, occupy the greater portion of the second floor, while the Masons' home and office rooms will occupy the remainder of the structure, which promises to be as large as before, and will probably be a fireproof structure.

A meeting of the Masonic Temple Trustees was held at the Odd Fellow building late Friday afternoon, and it was unanimously decided to rebuild the Temple, placing a gang of men at work Monday removing the debris in order that actual work may commence upon the new Temple as quickly as the weather will permit.

While no plans have been adopted, it is the intention of the company to erect a modern building, making it as near fireproof as possible, and having it tenanted by September 1st, 1912, or even before that date.

It was virtually agreed that the basement and first floor be constructed much after the old plan, only along more modern lines, with ample fire protection, and these to be tenanted by Mr. Stutson's large department store. Being entirely fireproof all fire dangers will be eliminated.

Mr. Stutson has not announced his plans for the intervening time until til the new building is ready, but will have a statement to make next week after all insurance has been adjusted, and other business taken care of. It will then be known whether temporary quarters will be secured for use until the new Temple is ready for occupancy.

ELKS' MEETING.

A meeting of the Elks was held in the Midland Bank business rooms Friday night, and a large number of Elks were in attendance. After thoroughly discussing the various propositions presented, it was unanimously decided to give preference to the Masonic Temple Company, which, it is understood, agreed to construct the second story of the Temple after plans approved by the Elks.

A committee consisting of Exalted Ruler Jess W. Smith and the three trustees, M. S. Daugherty, C. A. Gosard and M. J. Hagerty, was appointed to visit cities and towns with a view to gathering information in regard to modern quarters and lodge conveniences and arrangements and report to the lodge the result of their investigations.

More room and better lodge parlors than ever before, are contemplated.

The directors of the Masonic Temple Company are F. L. Stutson, president; C. E. Lloyd, vice president; J. C. Greiner, treasurer; E. L. Bush, secretary; W. H. Dial, A. T. Baldwin, W. W. Hamilton and L. C. Malow. The action of the directors is received enthusiastically by the people.

A GIRL'S WILD MIDNIGHT RIDE.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Blackmer & Tanquary.

Installation of Officers

Ladies of the G. A. R. and R. B. Hayes Post Hold Notable Annual Affair.

MANY ENJOY HOSPITALITIES

Friday night the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the R. B. Hayes Post held their annual joint installation in the G. A. R. hall.

Always a notable event in G. A. R. circles, Friday night proved no exception to the rule and the occasion was one fraught with much pleasure and stamped with the loyal good fellowship that is the indispensable adjunct of all G. A. R. functions.

Despite the zero night which caused deserted streets, a goodly number braved the biting cold and found in the cheer and warmth of the brightly lighted hall, rich compensation for their efforts.

The handsome gold fringed silk flags of the Post, half unfurled, decorated the stage, and smaller flags flaunted patriotic colors all over the large hall.

The installation ceremonies throughout were attended with much impressiveness. The Ladies of the G. A. R. were gallantly given precedence with Col. George F. Robinson installing officer.

The officers installed were Mrs. Mary Millikan, president; Mrs. Jane

Irons, senior vice president; Mrs. Fannie Robinson, junior vice president; treasurer, Mrs. Lida Dennis; secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Daugherty; chaplain, Mrs. Lucy A. Pruden; conductress, Mrs. Lucy Ginn; assistant conductress, Mrs. W. W. Millikan; guard, Mrs. E. W. Welsheimer; assistant guard, Miss Kate Williams.

In the installation of the R. B. Hayes Post No. 92, Capt. George C. Jenkins acted as installing officer, with Col. George F. Robinson officer of the day.

Colonel B. H. Millikan, whose earnest promotion of all G. A. R. interests, whether local or in broader circles, has gained for him more than ordinary prestige, as well as genuine affection in both the camps of the veterans and the ladies' circle, was installed as Post Commander.

Other officers installed were: Senior vice commander, R. S. Quinn; junior vice commander, E. W. Welsheimer; chaplain, John Neary; surgeon, W. H. Hughes; quartermaster, J. N. Wilson; officer of the day, R. H. Harrop; officer of the guard, H. E. Lydy; patriotic instructor, James Armstrong; adjutant, E. C. Hamilton.

Mrs. Harry Rogers furnished the installation music.

After the ceremonies the Post and the Circle jointly served a sumptuous turkey banquet, one of the most elaborate suppers ever served in the hall, of unstinted bountifulness and particularly enjoyed on the cold winter night.

The supper was served on the beautiful dishes with gold G. A. R. monograms, the gift of Col. Millikan. The G. A. R. ladies gave generously of their time and work to the success of the supper. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. J. F. Dennis, W. W. Millikan, M. S. Daugherty, Henry Robinson, H. L. Hadley.

After the supper the members of the order and their invited guests lingered for a greatly enjoyed social hour and it was well towards midnight before the successful installation and banquet was relegated to the annals of the past.

TELEGRAPH POLES TAKE ROOT

Telegraph poles that live and grow are a curiosity of African engineering. In Uganda a species of wild fig, locally known as the barkcloth tree, is used for poles, and ten years or more ago it was noticed that they took root and began to send out leaves and branches soon after being planted. Since then a line of more than 500 miles of these growing poles has been developed. It is troublesome to maintain, as the leaves cause frequent leakage by contacts, and poles are constantly dying and being eaten by termites. The first cost, however, is only 8 to 16 cents per pole, while an iron pole costs $3 to $7 or $8.

PLATT'S WIDOW A BRIDE

Mrs. Lillian Janeway-Platt Once Popular in Washington, Marries W. B. Atwater.

Washington.—The marriage, recently, of William B. Atwater to Mrs. Thomas C. Platt united a somewhat noted aviator and the widow of a United States senator whose fame may be said to have been almost world-wide. As the bride of Mr. Platt Mrs. Platt's youth contrasted most noticeably with the decrepitude of the aged senator. Now, in the culmination of her latest and, by the way, third romance, she having been Mrs. Lillian Janeway, a charming widow, active in the society life of Washington when Mr. Platt made her his bride, it is her husband's youth which may be looked upon as the incongruous feature of the alliance. Mr. Atwater impresses those who know him as a light-hearted, life-loving boy, while the lady of his heart—well, she's still charming in appearance and manner but not by the greatest stretch of the imagination could one call her girlish.

As the wife of the senior senator from the Empire state Mrs. Platt was prominent socially. As his widow she has lived a somewhat retired life in Central Valley, N. Y., and there, while deputy town superintendent of roads, Mr. Atwater made her acquaintance. His mother's bungalow is not far from that which has been occupied by Mrs. Platt.

For seven years Mr. Atwater was in the United States navy and served on board a dispatch vessel plying between Hong Kong and Manila at the time of the Spanish-American war. For a time he was third assistant engineer on board the steamship St. Paul. He is considered an expert with automobile and other motors. Mr. and Mrs. Atwater will spend the winter on the Pacific coast, where the young aviator will pursue his study of aviation.

SOME OF WAR'S HORRORS

Cruel Death of the Prisoners in the Stone Quarries of Ancient Syracuse.

London.—All the horrors of war have not been eliminated in these modern days by any means, although fighting between nations is becoming less frequent and less ferocious than of old. Today no nation would be permitted to deliberately starve to death its prisoners, for instance, as was done in ancient Syracuse. We have passed the rude, barbaric age, it seems, but there is room for further improvement, for all that.

The picture shown herewith has the appearance of quiet, peaceful days, yet it is a wonder that the rocks are not covered with red streaks, for it was in these old quarries near Syracuse that some 9,000

Where Prisoners Perished.

Athenian prisoners were confined and left to die of hunger and thirst. This happened in 413 B. C., when the Athenians under Nicias and Demosthenes were defeated by the Syracusans, who were aided by the Spartans. History records that the ships of the Athenians were destroyed and about 30,000 men killed, while 9,000 were made prisoners. The quarries where the prisoners were placed to perish so miserably cover many acres in extent, having been hewn from the solid rock by a multitude of slaves. Tradition does not say whether they are haunted, but it would be no matter for surprise if the spirits of those old Athenian soldiers yet hung around the scene of their greatest misery watching for a chance to get even with some one.

ORDINANCES INVALID?

City Solicitor Rankin Questions Very Seriously the Legality of the Action of Council Increasing Salaries.

COUNCILMEN AND MAYOR WILL LOSE OUT

If the Fears Entertained by Solicitor Prove Well Founded, Opinion of Attorney General to Be Sought.

On account of three words in Section 4234, General Code of Ohio, the recent action of the old City Council in boosting salaries may be illegal, and the salaries may remain the same as last year. These three words are "after ten days" and refer to the time which must elapse after such ordinance is vetoed by the mayor until council can pass it over his veto. Both of the recent salary boosting ordinances were passed the same night they were presented, after they had been vetoed by the mayor, and before ten days had elapsed after the mayor's veto.

Following is the section above-mentioned which defines the mayor's veto in cities:

Section 4234. Every ordinance or resolution of council shall, before it goes into effect, be presented to the mayor for approval. The mayor, if he approves it, shall sign and return it forthwith to council. If he does not approve it, he shall within ten days after its passage or adoption, return it with his objections to council, or if council is not in session, to the next regular meeting thereof, which objections council shall cause to be entered upon its journal. The mayor may approve or disapprove the whole or any item of an ordinance appropriating money. If he does not return such ordinance or resolution within the time limited in this section, it shall take effect in the same manner as if he had signed it, unless council by adjournment prevents its return.

When the mayor disapproves an ordinance or resolution, or any part thereof, and returns it to council with his objection, council may, after ten days, reconsider it and if such ordinance, resolution or item, upon such reconsideration, is approved by the votes of two-thirds of all the members elected to council, it shall then take effect as if signed by the mayor. The provisions of this section shall apply only in cities. (96 v. 61 Sec. 125; 96 v. 82 Sec. 196.)

When City Solicitor Harry Rankin was asked for an opinion as to the legality of the ordinance passed by the recent council, he stated that according to the section above quoted, both salary "raising" ordinances were illegal, and if such is the case, which he will take steps to establish beyond doubt, the salaries of the new councilmen will remain the same as heretofore, and not $100 per year as called for in the new ordinance. The increase of the Service Director to $400 per year is also embodied in the same ordinance.

Likewise the raising of the salaries of Mayor and Police Chief to $900 per year, would be illegal, and, according to Solicitor Rankin, no action can now be taken to increase the salaries of elective officers now holding office. An opinion from the Attorney General will probably be sought by Solicitor Rankin if he deems it necessary after making further investigation.

The first ordinance increasing the salaries of the councilmen from $50 to $100, and the Service Director to $400 per year, was passed Dec. 4th, vetoed by the mayor and presented at the meeting Dec. 18th. Without delay it was passed over his veto. Another ordinance increasing the salaries of Mayor and Police Chief to $900 was passed on Dec. 18th, and this was vetoed by the mayor, presented at the special session on December 29th, where it was passed over the veto.

A great deal of interest is attached to the affair.

PLATT'S WIDOW A BRIDE

Mrs. Lillian Janeway-Platt Once Popular in Washington, Marries
W. B. Atwater.

Washington.—The marriage, recently, of William B. Atwater to Mrs.
Thomas C. Platt united a somewhat noted aviator and the widow of a United States senator whose fame
may be said to have been almost world-wide. As the bride of Mr. Platt Mrs. Platt's youth contrasted most noticeably with the decrepitude of the aged senator. Now, in the culmination of her latest and, by the way, third romance, she having been Mrs. Lillian Janeway, a charming widow, active in the society life of Washington when Mr. Platt made her his bride, it is her husband's youth which may be

Mrs. Atwater.

looked upon as the incongruous feature of the alliance. Mr. Atwater impresses those who know him as a light-hearted, life-loving boy, while the lady of his heart—well, she's still charming in appearance and manner
but not by the greatest stretch of the imagination could one call her girlish.

As the wife of the senior senator from the Empire state Mrs. Platt was prominent socially. As his widow she has lived a somewhat retired life in Central Valley, N. Y., and there, while deputy town superintendent of roads,
Mr. Atwater made her acquaintance.
His mother's bungalow is not far from that which has been occupied by
Mrs. Platt.

For seven years Mr. Atwater was in the United States navy and served on board a dispatch vessel plying between Hong Kong and Manila at the time of the Spanish-American war.
For a time he was third assistant engineer on board the steamship St.
Paul. He is considered an expert
with automobile and other motors.
Mr. and Mrs. Atwater will spend the winter on the Pacific coast, where
the young aviator will pursue his study of aviation.

SOME OF WAR'S HORRORS

Cruel Death of the Prisoners in the Stone Quarries of Ancient Syracuse.

London.—All the horrors of war
have not been eliminated in these modern days by any means, although fighting between nations is becoming less frequent and less ferocious than
of old. Today no nation would be permitted to deliberately starve to death its prisoners, for instance, as was done in ancient Syracuse. We have passed the rude, barbaric age, it seems, but there is room for further improvement, for all that.

The picture shown herewith has
the appearance of quiet, peaceful days, yet it is a wonder that the rocks are not covered with red streaks, for it was in these old quar-
ries near Syracuse that some 9,000

Where Prisoners Perished.

Athenian prisoners were confined and left to die of hunger and thirst. This happened in 413 B. C., when the Athenians under Nicias and Demosthenes were defeated by the Syracusans, who were aided by the Spartans. History records that the ships of the Athenians were destroyed and about 30, 000 men killed, while 9,000 were made prisoners. The quarries where the prisoners were placed to perish so miserably cover many acres in extent,
having been hewn from the solid rock by a multitude of slaves. Tradition does not say whether they are haunted, but it would be no matter
for surprise if the spirits of those old Athenian soldiers yet hung around
the scene of their greatest misery
watching for a chance to get even with some one.

ORDINANCES INVALID?

City Solicitor Rankin Questions
Very Seriously the Legality of the Action of Council Increasing Salaries.

COUNCILMEN AND MAYOR WILL LOSE OUT

If the Fears Entertained by Solicitor Prove Well Founded,
Opinion of Attorney General
to Be Sought.

On account of three words in Section 4234, General Code of Ohio, the recent action of the old City Council in boosting salaries may be illegal, and the salaries may remain
the same as last year. These three words are "after ten days" and refer to the time which must elapse
after such ordinance is vetoed by the mayor until council can pass it over his veto. Both of the recent salary boosting ordinances were passed the same night they were presented, after they had been vetoed by the mayor, and before ten days had elapsed after the mayor's veto.

Following is the section above-mentioned which defines the mayor's
veto in cities:

Section 4234. Every ordinance or resolution of council shall, before it goes into effect, be presented to the mayor for approval. The mayor, if he approves it, shall sign and return
it forthwith to council. If he does not approve it, he shall within ten days after its passage or adoption,
return it with his objections to
council, or if council is not in session, to the next regular meeting
thereof, which objections council shall cause to be entered upon its journal. The mayor may approve or disapprove the whole or any item
of an ordinance appropriating money. If he does not return such ordinance or resolution within the

deems it necessary after making
further investigation.

The first ordinance increasing the salaries of the councilmen from $50
to $100, and the Service Director to $100 per year, was passed Dec. 4th, vetoed by the mayor and presented at the meeting Dec. 18th. Without delay it was passed over his veto.
Another ordinance increasing the salaries of Mayor and Police Chief
to $900 was passed on Dec. 18th,
and this was vetoed by the mayor,
presented at the special session on December 29th, where it was passed
over the veto.

A great deal of interest is attached to the affair.

MASONS WILL REBUILD

Work of Clearing Away the Debris Will Begin on Monday Morning

COMMODIOUS QUARTERS FOR STUTSON STORE

The Glad Tidings of the Directors Action Last Night Is Given to an Expectant People, Who Receive News Enthusiastically.

It will be pleasing news to all citizens of Washington, Fayette and adjoining counties to learn that the beautiful Masonic Temple will be rebuilt immediately, and that the Frank L. Stutson department store will occupy the first floor and basement, and the Washington Lodge of B. P. O. Elks will, in all probability, occupy the greater portion of the second floor, while the Masons' home and office rooms will occupy the remainder of the structure, which promises to be as large as before, and will probably be a fireproof structure.

A meeting of the Masonic Temple Trustees was held at the Odd Fellow building late Friday afternoon, and it was unanimously decided to rebuild the Temple, placing a gang of men at work Monday removing the debris in order that actual work may commence upon the new Temple as quickly as the weather will permit.

While no plans have been adopted, it is the intention of the company to erect a modern building, making it as near fireproof as possible, and having it tenanted by September 1st, 1912, or even before that date.

It was virtually agreed that the basement and first floor be constructed much after the old plan, only along more modern lines, with ample fire protection, and these to be tenanted by Mr. Stutson's large department store. Being entirely fireproof all fire dangers will be eliminated.

Mr. Stutson has not announced his plans for the intervening time until the new building is ready, but will have a statement to make next week after all insurance has been adjusted, and other business taken care of. It will then be known whether temporary quarters will be secured for use until the new Temple is ready for occupancy.

ELKS' MEETING.

A meeting of the Elks was held in the Midland Bank business rooms Friday night, and a large number of Elks were in attendance. After thoroughly discussing the various propositions presented, it was unanimously decided to give preference to the Masonic Temple Company, which, it is understood, agreed to construct the second story of the Temple after plans approved by the Elks.

A committee consisting of Exalted Ruler Jess W. Smith and the three trustees, M. S. Daugherty, C. A. Gossard and M. J. Hagerty, was appointed to visit cities and towns with a view to gathering information in regard to modern quarters and lodge conveniences and arrangements and report to the lodge the result of their investigations.

More room and better lodge parlors than ever before, are contemplated.

The directors of the Masonic Temple Company are F. L. Stutson, president; C. E. Lloyd, vice president; J. C. Greiner, treasurer; E. L. Bush, secretary; W. H. Dial, A. T. Baldwin, W. W. Hamilton and L. C. Malow. The action of the directors is received enthusiastically by the people.

A GIRL'S WILD MIDNIGHT RIDE.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Blackmer & Tanquary.

Installation of Officers

Ladies of the G. A. R. and R. B. Hayes Post Hold Notable Annual Affair.

MANY ENJOY HOSPITALITIES

Friday night the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the R. B. Hayes Post held their annual joint installation in the G. A. R. hall.

Always a notable event in G. A. R. circles, Friday night proved no exception to the rule and the occasion was one fraught with much pleasure and stamped with the loyal good fellowship that is the indispensable adjunct of all G. A. R. functions.

Despite the zero night which caused deserted streets, a goodly number braved the biting cold and found in the cheer and warmth of the brightly lighted hall, rich compensation for their efforts.

The handsome gold fringed silk flags of the Post, half unfurled, decorated the stage, and smaller flags flaunted patriotic colors all over the large hall.

The installation ceremonies throughout were attended with much impressiveness. The Ladies of the G. A. R. were gallantly given precedence with Col. George F. Robinson installing officer.

The officers installed were Mrs. Mary Millikan, president; Mrs. Jane

Irions, senior vice president; Mrs. Fannie Robinson, junior vice president; treasurer, Mrs. Lida Dennis; secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Daugherty; chaplain, Mrs. Lucy A. Pruden; conductress, Mrs. Lucy Ginn; assistant conductress, Mrs. W. W. Millikan; guard, Mrs. E. W. Welsheimer; assistant guard, Miss Kate Williams.

In the installation of the R. B. Hayes Post No. 92, Capt. George C. Jenkins acted as installing officer, with Col. George F. Robinson officer of the day.

Colonel B. H. Millikan, whose earnest promotion of all G. A. R. interests, whether local or in broader circles, has gained for him more than ordinary prestige, as well as genuine affection in both the camps of the veterans and the ladies' circle, was installed as Post Commander.

Other officers installed were: Senior vice commander, R. S. Quinn; junior vice commander, E. W. Welsheimer; chaplain, John Near; surgeon, W. H. Hughes; quartermaster, J. N. Wilson; officer of the day, R. H. Harrop; officer of the guard, H. E. Lydy; patriotic instructor, James Armstrong; adjutant, E. C. Hamilton.

Mrs. Harry Rogers furnished the installation music.

After the ceremonies the Post and the Circle jointly served a sumptuous turkey banquet, one of the most elaborate suppers ever served in the hall, of unstinted bountifulness and particularly enjoyed on the cold winter night.

The supper was served on the beautiful dishes with gold G. A. R. monograms, the gift of Col. Millikan. The G. A. R. ladies gave generously of their time and work to the success of the supper. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. J. F. Dennis, W. W. Millikan, M. S. Daugherty, Henry Robinson, H. L. Hadley.

After the supper the members of the order and their invited guests lingered for a greatly enjoyed social hour and it was well towards midnight before the successful installation and banquet was relegated to the annals of the past.

Lecture Course Number Changed

The great Katherine Ridgeway will be here on January 16th for the next number of the Washington Lecture Course, instead of the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party, booked for here on January 11th.

Tickets for the Kellogg-Haines entertainment will admit the bearer to the Ridgeway entertainment. There is no lady lecturer on the American platform who is so popular with Washington people as Katherine Ridgeway, and hundreds of people will be glad to hear of her return for the date above mentioned.

TELEGRAPH POLES TAKE ROOT

Telegraph poles that live and grow are a curiosity of African engineering. In Uganda a species of wild fig, locally known as the barkcloth tree, is used for poles, and ten years or more ago it was noticed that they took root and began to send out leaves and branches soon after being planted. Since then a line of more than 500 miles of these growing poles has been developed. It is troublesome to maintain, as the leaves cause frequent leakage by contacts, and poles are constantly dying and being eaten by termites. The first cost, however, is only 8 to 16 cents per pole, while an iron pole costs $3 to $7 or $8.

QUEER AMERICAN AEROPLANE

With a view to solving the problem of stability, an American airman, William P. Gary, has constructed a new three-decker aeroplane which, as our photograph shows, is enclosed in a circle. The motor is between the second and third planes, and the pilot's seat under the third plane. Both engine and seat are attached to a frame work. The patent is in the hands of the Brothers Wright, and the machine is said to have gone through its trial trips very well.

WHERE LADIES SHAVE

Some of the East African ladies shave their heads with small, sharp, razor-like knives, first softening the hair with goat's milk. Other Africans keep it cut off to about two inches in length and slick down with vegetable oils. Girls of Fiji stiffen their locks with tree gums, and soft, fluffy hair is considered a curse. Somehow some of the races that have the stiffest hair try to make it stiffer, and those that have the softest try to make it like down, and still other races do just the opposite.

Hettseheimer is the jeweler who sells "Big Ben" alarm clock.

ARIZONA BRIDGE OF AGATE

The petrified forests of Arizona present some of the most marvelous evidence of volcanic action known to the world. Groves of giant trees, becoming solidified, have fallen of their own weight. One log which is probably the largest example of petrification has recently come to attention. It is 110 feet long, spans a "box canon" 60 feet wide, forming a convenient foot-bridge, and is really a mass of fine agate weighing hundreds of tons. The huge roots of the fallen monarch rise to a height of eight or ten feet at one end while the upper extremity of the trunk is buried in the soft formation of the land in which it grew. Its diameter is from five feet to two at the smaller end.

SEVEN YEARS OF SILENCE

That they lived together as husband and wife for seven years without speaking to each other, their only communication being by means of written notes, was one of the statements made by Mrs. Ellen Klitgaard in her application for a divorce from Carl E. Klitgaard, at San Francisco, recently. This silence, she declared, was enforced by her husband who ceased speaking to her soon after their marriage in 1903. He would not even receive the notes from her hand, compelling her to leave them in a designated place. One day she wrote to him: "How long are you going to keep this up?" "Forever," was the written reply.

WHERE EGGS ARE BLACK

Every one has heard of the black broth of the Spartans over which the fastidious Dionysius made a wry face, and was not convinced when told that it was enjoyable with Spartan sauce, the ingredients of which, in the Syracusean's opinion, could little alter the taste. The housewife would, however, probably be shocked to find the eggs left by the milkman jet black. The black Cayuga duck, a South American bird, frequently lays black eggs. The black coloring does not penetrate the shell, being due to an oily pigment which can be rubbed off. In successive layings the coloring fades and disappears.

MASONS WILL REBUILD

Work of Clearing Away the Debris Will Begin on Monday Morning

COMMODIOUS QUARTERS FOR STUTSON STORE

The Glad Tidings of the Directors Action Last Night Is Given to an Expectant People, Who Receive News Enthusiastically.

It will be pleasing news to all citizens of Washington, Fayette and adjoining counties to learn that the beautiful Masonic Temple will be rebuilt immediately, and that the Frank L. Stutson department store will occupy the first floor and basement, and the Washington Lodge of B. P. O. Elks will, in all probability, occupy the greater portion of the second floor, while the Masons' home and office rooms will occupy the remainder of the structure, which promises to be as large as before, and will probably be a fireproof structure.

A meeting of the Masonic Temple Trustees was held at the Odd Fellow building late Friday afternoon, and it was unanimously decided to rebuild the Temple, placing a gang of men at work Monday removing the debris in order that actual work may commence upon the new Temple as quickly as the weather will permit.

While no plans have been adopted, it is the intention of the company to erect a modern building, making it as near fireproof as possible, and having it tenanted by September 1st, 1912, or even before that date.

It was virtually agreed that the basement and first floor be constructed much after the old plan, only along more modern lines, with ample fire protection, and these to be tenanted by Mr. Stutson's large department store. Being entirely fireproof all fire dangers will be eliminated.

Mr. Stutson has not announced his plans for the intervening time until the new building is ready, but will have a statement to make next week after all insurance has been adjusted, and other business taken care of. It will then be known whether temporary quarters will be secured for use until the new Temple is ready for occupancy.

ELKS' MEETING.

A meeting of the Elks was held in the Midland Bank business rooms Friday night, and a large number of Elks were in attendance. After thoroughly discussing the various propositions presented, it was unanimously decided to give preference to the Masonic Temple Company, which, it is understood, agreed to construct the second story of the Temple after plans approved by the Elks.

A committee consisting of Exalted Ruler Jess W. Smith and the three trustees, M. S. Daugherty, C. A. Gossard and M. J. Hagerty, was appointed to visit cities and towns with a view to gathering information in regard to modern quarters and lodge conveniences and arrangements and report to the lodge the result of their investigations.

More room and better lodge parlors than ever before, are contemplated.

The directors of the Masonic Temple Company are F. L. Stutson, president; C. E. Lloyd, vice president; J. C. Greiner, treasurer; E. L. Bush, secretary; W. H. Dial, A. T. Baldwin, W. W. Hamilton and L. C. Malloy. The action of the directors is received enthusiastically by the people.

A GIRL'S WILD MIDNIGHT RIDE.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Blackmer & Tanquary.

OPENED UP.

Having been burnt out in the Masonic Temple, I have opened quarters in the Pavey block, Room 9 and will be glad to see all my patrons.

Installation of Officers

Ladies of the G. A. R. and R. B. Hayes Post Hold Notable Annual Affair.

MANY ENJOY HOSPITALITIES

Friday night the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the R. B. Hayes Post held their annual joint installation in the G. A. R. hall.

Always a notable event in G. A. R. circles, Friday night proved no exception to the rule and the occasion was one fraught with much pleasure and stamped with the loyal good fellowship that is the indispensable adjunct of all G. A. R. functions.

Despite the zero night which caused deserted streets, a goodly number braved the biting cold and found in the cheer and warmth of the brightly lighted hall, rich compensation for their efforts.

The handsome gold fringed silk flags of the Post, half unfurled, decorated the stage, and smaller flags flaunted patriotic colors all over the large hall.

The installation ceremonies throughout were attended with much impressiveness. The Ladies of the G. A. R. were gallantly given precedence with Col. George F. Robinson installing officer.

The officers installed were Mrs. Mary Millikan, president, Mrs. Jane

Irons, senior vice president; Mrs. Fannie Robinson, junior vice president; treasurer, Mrs. Lida Dennis; secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Daugherty; chaplain, Mrs. Lucy A. Pruden; conductress, Mrs. Lucy Ginn; assistant conductress, Mrs. W. W. Millikan; guard, Mrs. E. W. Welsheimer; assistant guard, Miss Kate Williams.

In the installation of the R. B. Hayes Post No. 92, Capt. George C. Jenkins acted as installing officer, with Col. George F. Robinson officer of the day.

Colonel B. H. Millikan, whose earnest promotion of all G. A. R. interests, whether local or in broader circles, has gained for him more than ordinary prestige, as well as genuine affection in both the camps of the veterans and the ladies' circle, was installed as Post Commander.

Other officers installed were: Senior vice commander, R. S. Quinn; junior vice commander, E. W. Welsheimer; chaplain, John Near; surgeon, W. H. Hughes; quartermaster, J. N. Wilson; officer of the day, R. H. Harrop; officer of the guard, H. E. Lydy; patriotic instructor, James Armstrong; adjutant, E. C. Hamilton. Mrs. Harry Rogers furnished the installation music.

After the ceremonies the Post and the Circle jointly served a sumptuous turkey banquet, one of the most elaborate suppers ever served in the hall, of unstinted bountifulness and particularly enjoyed on the cold winter night.

The supper was served on the beautiful dishes with gold G. A. R. monograms, the gift of Col. Millikan.

The G. A. R. ladies gave generously of their time and work to the success of the supper. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. J. F. Dennis, W. W. Millikan, M. S. Daugherty, Henry Robinson, H. L. Hadley.

After the supper the members of the order and their invited guests lingered for a greatly enjoyed social hour and it was well towards midnight before the successful installation and banquet was relegated to the annals of the past.

Lecture Course Number Changed

The great Katherine Ridgeway will be here on January 16th for the next number of the Washington Lecture Course, instead of the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party, booked for here on January 11th.

Tickets for the Kellogg-Haines entertainment will admit the bearer to the Ridgeway entertainment. There is no lady lecturer on the American platform who is so popular with Washington people as Katherine Ridgeway, and hundreds of people will be glad to hear of her return for the date above mentioned.

TELEGRAPH POLES TAKE ROOT

Telegraph poles that live and grow are a curiosity of African engineering. In Uganda a species of wild fig, locally known as the barkcloth tree, is used for poles, and ten years or more ago it was noticed that they took root and began to send out leaves and branches soon after being planted. Since then a line of more than 500 miles of these growing poles has been developed. It is troublesome to maintain as the leaves cause frequent leakage by contacts, and poles are constantly dying and being eaten by termites. The first cost, however, is only 8 to 16 cents per pole, while an iron pole costs $3 to $7 or $8.

QUEER AMERICAN AEROPLANE

With a view to solving the problem of stability, an American airman, William P. Gary, has constructed a new three-decker aeroplane which, as our photograph shows, is enclosed in a circle. The motor is between the second and third planes, and the pilot's seat under the third plane. Both engine and seat are attached to a framework. The patent is in the hands of the Brothers Wright, and the machine is said to have gone through its trial trips very well.

WHERE LADIES SHAVE

Some of the East African ladies shave their heads with small, sharp, razor-like knives, first softening the hair with goat's milk. Other Africans keep it cut off to about two inches in length and slick down with vegetable oil. Girls of Fiji stiffen their locks with tree gums, and soft, fluffy hair is considered a curse. Somehow some of the races that have the stiffest hair try to make it softer, and those that have the softest try to make it like down, and still other races do just the opposite.

Zettelsheimer is the jeweler who sells "Big Ben" alarm clock.

ARIZONA BRIDGE OF AGATE

The petrified forests of Arizona present some of the most marvelous evidence of volcanic action known to the world. Groves of giant trees, becoming solidified, have fallen of their own weight. One log which is probably the largest example of petrification has recently come to attention. It is 110 feet long, spans a "box canon" 60 feet wide, forming a convenient footbridge, and is really a mass of fine agate weighing hundreds of tons. The huge roots of the fallen monarch rise to a height of eight or ten feet at one end while the upper extremity of the trunk is buried in the soft formation of the land in which it grew. Its diameter is from five feet to two at the smaller end.

SEVEN YEARS OF SILENCE

That they lived together as husband and wife for seven years without speaking to each other, their only communication being by means of written notes, was one of the statements made by Mrs. Ellen Klitgaard in her application for a divorce from Carl E. Klitgaard, at San Francisco, recently. This silence, she declared, was enforced by her husband who ceased speaking to her soon after their marriage in 1903. He would not even receive the notes from her hand, compelling her to leave them in a designated place. One day she wrote to him: "How long are you going to keep this up?" "Forever," was the written reply.

WHERE EGGS ARE BLACK

Every one has heard of the black broth of the Spartans over which the fastidious Dionysius made a wry face, and was not convinced when told that it was enjoyable with Spartan sauce, the ingredients of which, in the Syracusean's opinion, could little alter the taste. The housewife would, however, probably be shocked to find the eggs left by the milkman jet black. The black Cayuga duck, a South American bird, frequently lays black eggs. The black coloring does not penetrate the shell, being due to an oily pigment which can be rubbed off. In successive layings the coloring fades and disappears.

PLATT'S WIDOW A BRIDE

Mrs. Lillian Janeway-Platt Once Popular in Washington, Marries W. B. Atwater.

Washington.—The marriage, recently, of William B. Atwater to Mrs. Thomas C. Platt united a somewhat noted aviator and the widow of a United States senator whose fame may be said to have been almost world-wide. As the bride of Mr. Platt Mrs. Platt's youth contrasted most noticeably with the decrepitude of the aged senator. Now, in the culmination of her latest and, by the way, third romance, she having been Mrs. Lillian Janeway, a charming widow, active in the society life of Washington when Mr. Platt made her his bride, it is her husband's youth which may be looked upon as the incongruous feature of the alliance. Mr. Atwater impresses those who know him as a light-hearted, life-loving boy, while the lady of his heart—well, she's still charming in appearance and manner but not by the greatest stretch of the imagination could one call her girlish.

As the wife of the senior senator from the Empire state Mrs. Platt was prominent socially. As his widow she has lived a somewhat retired life in Central Valley, N. Y., and there, while deputy town superintendent of roads, Mr. Atwater made her acquaintance. His mother's bungalow is not far from that which has been occupied by Mrs. Platt.

For seven years Mr. Atwater was in the United States navy and served on board a dispatch vessel plying between Hong Kong and Manila at the time of the Spanish-American war. For a time he was third assistant engineer on board the steamship St. Paul. He is considered an expert with automobile and other motors. Mr. and Mrs. Atwater will spend the winter on the Pacific coast, where the young aviator will pursue his study of aviation.

SOME OF WAR'S HORRORS

Cruel Death of the Prisoners in the Stone Quarries of Ancient Syracuse.

London.—All the horrors of war have not been eliminated in these modern days by any means, although fighting between nations is becoming less frequent and less ferocious than of old. Today no nation would be permitted to deliberately starve to death its prisoners, for instance, as was done in ancient Syracuse. We have passed the rude, barbaric age, it seems, but there is room for further improvement, for all that.

The picture shown herewith has the appearance of quiet, peaceful days, yet it is a wonder that the rocks are not covered with red streaks, for it was in these old quarries near Syracuse that some 9,000

Where Prisoners Perished.

Athenian prisoners were confined and left to die of hunger and thirst. This happened in 413 B. C., when the Athenians under Nicias and Demosthenes were defeated by the Syracuseans, who were aided by the Spartans. History records that the ships of the Athenians were destroyed and about 30,000 men killed, while 9,000 were made prisoners. The quarries where the prisoners were placed to perish so miserably cover many acres in extent, having been hewn from the solid rock by a multitude of slaves. Tradition does not say whether they are haunted, but it would be no matter for surprise if the spirits of those old Athenian soldiers yet hung around the scene of their greatest misery watching for a chance to get even with some one.

ORDINANCES INVALID?

City Solicitor Rankin Questions Very Seriously the Legality of the Action of Council Increasing Salaries.

COUNCILMEN AND MAYOR WILL LOSE OUT

If the Fears Entertained by Solicitor Prove Well Founded. Opinion of Attorney General to Be Sought.

On account of three words in Section 4234, General Code of Ohio, the recent action of the old City Council in boosting salaries may be illegal, and the salaries may remain the same as last year. These three words are "after ten days" and refer to the time which must elapse after such ordinance is vetoed by the mayor until council can pass it over his veto. Both of the recent salary boosting ordinances were passed the same night they were presented, after they had been vetoed by the mayor, and before ten days had elapsed after the mayor's veto.

Following is the section above-mentioned which defines the mayor's veto in cities:

Section 4234. Every ordinance or resolution of council shall, before it goes into effect, be presented to the mayor for approval. The mayor, if he approves it, shall sign and return it forthwith to council. If he does not approve it, he shall within ten days after its passage or adoption, return it with his objections to council, or if council is not in session, to the next regular meeting thereof, which objections council shall cause to be entered upon its journal. The mayor may approve or disapprove the whole or any item of an ordinance appropriating money. If he does not return such ordinance or resolution within the time limited in this section, it shall take effect in the same manner as if he had signed it, unless council by adjournment prevents its return.

When City Solicitor Harry Rankin was asked for an opinion as to the legality of the ordinance passed by the recent council, he stated that according to the section above quoted, both salary "raising" ordinances were illegal, and if such is the case, which he will take steps to establish beyond doubt, the salaries of the new councilmen will remain the same as heretofore, and not $100 per year as called for in the new ordinance. The increase of the Service Director to $400 per year is also embodied in the same ordinance.

Likewise the raising of the salaries of Mayor and Police Chief to $900 per year, would be illegal, and, according to Solicitor Rankin, no action can now be taken to increase the salaries of elective officers now holding office. An opinion from the Attorney General will probably be sought by Solicitor Rankin if he deems it necessary after making further investigation.

The first ordinance increasing the salaries of the councilmen from $50 to $100, and the Service Director to $400 per year, was passed Dec. 4th, vetoed by the mayor and presented at the meeting Dec. 18th. Without delay it was passed over his veto. Another ordinance increasing the salaries of Mayor and Police Chief to $900 was passed on Dec. 18th, and this was vetoed by the mayor, presented at the special session on December 29th, where it was passed over the veto.

A great deal of interest is attached to the affair.

PLATT'S WIDOW A BRIDE

Mrs. Lillian Janeway-Platt Once Popular in Washington, Marries
W. B. Atwater.

Washington.—The marriage, recently, of William B. Atwater to Mrs.
Thomas C. Platt united a somewhat
noted aviator and the widow of a United States senator whose fame
may be said to have been almost
world-wide. As the bride of Mr. Platt Mrs. Platt's youth contrasted most noticeably with the decrepitude of the aged senator. Now, in the culmination of her latest and, by the way, third romance, she having been Mrs. Lillian Janeway, a charming widow, active in the society life of Washington when
Mr. Platt made her his bride, it is her husband's youth which may be

Mrs. Atwater.

looked upon as the incongruous feature of the alliance. Mr. Atwater impresses those who know him as a
light-hearted, life-loving boy, while
the lady of his heart—well, she's still
charming in appearance and manner
but not by the greatest stretch of the imagination could one call her
girlish.

As the wife of the senior senator
from the Empire state Mrs. Platt was prominent socially. As his widow she has lived a somewhat retired life in Central Valley, N. Y., and there, while
deputy town superintendent of roads,
Mr. Atwater made her acquaintance.
His mother's bungalow is not far
from that which has been occupied by
Mrs. Platt.

For seven years Mr. Atwater was in the United States navy and served
on board a dispatch vessel plying between Hong Kong and Manila at the time of the Spanish-American war.
For a time he was third assistant engineer on board the steamship St.
Paul. He is considered an expert
with automobile and other motors.
Mr. and Mrs. Atwater will spend the winter on the Pacific coast, where
the young aviator will pursue his
study of aviation.

SOME OF WAR'S HORRORS

Cruel Death of the Prisoners in the Stone Quarries of Ancient Syracuse.

London.—All the horrors of war
have not been eliminated in these modern days by any means, although fighting between nations is becoming
less frequent and less ferocious than
of old. Today no nation would be permitted to deliberately starve to
death its prisoners, for instance, as
was done in ancient Syracuse. We have passed the rude, barbaric age, it
seems, but there is room for further
improvement, for all that.

The picture shown herewith has
the appearance of quiet, peaceful
days, yet it is a wonder that the
rocks are not covered with red
streaks, for it was in these old quar-
ries near Syracuse that some 9,000

Where Prisoners Perished.

Athenian prisoners were confined and
left to die of hunger and thirst. This happened in 413 B. C., when the Athenians under Nicias and Demosthenes were defeated by the Sicilians, who were aided by the Spartans. History records that the ships of the Athenians were destroyed and about 30,- 000 men killed, while 9,000 were made prisoners. The quarries where the prisoners were placed to perish so
miserably cover many acres in extent,
having been hewn from the solid
rock by a multitude of slaves. Tradition does not say whether they are
haunted, but it would be no matter
for surprise if the spirits of those
old Athenian soldiers yet hung around
the scene of their greatest misery
watching for a chance to get even
with some one.

ORDINANCES INVALID?

City Solicitor Rankin Questions
Very Seriously the Legality of
the Action of Council Increasing Salaries.

COUNCILMEN AND MAYOR WILL LOSE OUT

If the Fears Entertained by Solicitor Prove Well Founded.
Opinion of Attorney General
to Be Sought.

On account of three words in Section 4234, General Code of Ohio, the
recent action of the old City Council in boosting salaries may be illegal, and the salaries may remain
the same as last year. These three words are "after ten days" and refer to the time which must elapse
after such ordinance is vetoed by
the mayor until council can pass it
over his veto. Both of the recent salary boosting ordinances were
passed the same night they were presented, after they had been vetoed by the mayor, and before ten days had elapsed after the mayor's veto.

Following is the section above-mentioned which defines the mayor's
veto in cities:

Section 4234. Every ordinance or resolution of council shall, before it
goes into effect, be presented to the mayor for approval. The mayor, if
he approves it, shall sign and return
it forthwith to council. If he does not approve it, he shall within ten days after its passage or adoption,
return it with his objections to
council, or if council is not in session, to the next regular meeting
thereof, which objections council
shall cause to be entered upon its journal. The mayor may approve
or disapprove the whole or any item
of an ordinance appropriating money. If he does not return such ordinance or resolution within the

deems it necessary after making
further investigation.

The first ordinance increasing the salaries of the councilmen from $50
to $100, and the Service Director to $400 per year, was passed Dec. 4th,
vetoed by the mayor and presented at the meeting Dec. 18th. Without delay it was passed over his veto.
Another ordinance increasing the salaries of Mayor and Police Chief
to $900 was passed on Dec. 18th,
and this was vetoed by the mayor,
presented at the special session on December 29th, where it was passed
over the veto.

A great deal of interest is attached to the affair.

SCHOOL TEACHERS.

There is no more difficult work in all the vast quantity and variety of work which higher civilization demands, than that of teaching school and doing the work right.

Education alone does not make a successful and a good school teacher.

Natural ability, brain power, great fund of common sense, alone does not make a good school teacher. The possession of a great deal of kindness alone and the possession of a great love for humanity alone does not make a successful school teacher.

Exceptional executive ability does not make a good school teacher. The strict disciplinarian is not the successful teacher.

And so on through the entire list. The possession of no one or two or three of the excellent qualities above mentioned which would probably carry a man successfully through many other vocations in life, will suffice in the business or profession, if you please, of "teaching the young idea how to shoot."

A good school teacher must be possessed of a wider and more comprehensive combination of good and winning qualities, exactly and nicely proportioned, than any other worker in life.

Another thing equally true—few people can learn to teach school.

Considering the high standard and the many qualifications required, school teachers are the poorest paid and the least appreciated of all the hard workers for humanity's progress.

School teachers are beginning to look more carefully into their governing code of ethics too. Even among themselves they have not always, it would seem, from the movement now launched, appreciated each other's work at its full value.

"It shall be beneath the dignity of any teacher and unprofessional for any teacher to underbid another, or attempt to secure a position which another holds or has a fairly good chance of securing or holding."

This is part of a code of ethics adopted for teachers by one Educational association at its annual convention in December. The association agreed that too often the teachers gossip with intimate friends or the boarding house lady, or with each other concerning transactions that should concern only the teacher herself, the child and the parents. Other parts of the code are:

"Teachers shall remain loyal to the profession.

"Teachers shall remain loyal to the school institution or system with which they may be connected as teachers.

"The recommendations of the merits of the work of any teacher shall be as honest as possible and teachers shall refrain from asking for testimonials, but rather ask for the permission to use the names of the parties knowing their work.

"The teacher, conforming to the usual rules of right living, must be permitted to lead the natural life of any citizen free from dictation.

"The daily transaction of business in the schoolroom shall be as free from discussion outside the schoolroom as the daily entries or balance sheet of the bank clerk is.

"It shall be the duty of any teacher coming into a community to be willing to surrender or forget such of her pleasures as may conflict with the best influence in the community, even though she may be strongly of the opinion that such pleasures are harmless."

The observance of this code of ethics cannot fail to bring a higher appreciation of the work and its responsibility for those who are engaged in the work at least among themselves and should be a very strong factor in bringing a more complete public appreciation which will, raise the compensation and lighten the load now carried, very materially.

Better Feeling Now Exists Between All Classes

GREAT changes have come about recently. There is a BETTER FEELING EVERYWHERE AMONG ALL CLASSES. In fact, there is but one class now. Why, in England princesses associate with grocers' wives, all working for the common good.

Here in America the same feeling of fellowship, of equality, prevails. There has been a GREAT AWAKENING.

THE RICH ARE RISING MORE AND MORE TO THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF WEALTH; THE WORKING CLASSES ARE ESCAPING FROM THE TYRANNY OF THEIR LEADERS.

Now laboring men will refuse to be subject to the tyranny of a few fanatics. They will learn to speak for themselves.

There are NO MORE ARISTOCRATS. We are all brothers, brothers!

Poetry—Today

GOD'S OWN.

When Greeks and Romans still wore tails,
And lived in trees, at bugs and snails,
Who dwell like kings in peaceful vales?

The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

When Hebrews lived on lizzard pies,
And fed their children worms and flies,
Who were God-fearing, kindly, wise?

The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Way back when things had just been made,
Who in bright splendor all arrayed
Led off in every grand parade?

The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

O'Killes, traitor, shame on you
To call yourself Achilles; Pooh!
More honor had you claimed kin to
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

When Adam ate the apple and
From Paradise was promptly
"canned"

Who were the first to grasp his hand?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Who cheered up Eve when things were dark,
Drew up the plans for Eden Park,
Helped Noah navigate his ark?

The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Who was it sent the lowest bids,
To build the ancient pyramids,
Who was it but those hustling kids?

The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Who was it that invented war,
Whose praise is sung in ancient lore,
Who was the world created for?

The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

And when on Judgment Day the Lord
Picks out the chosen to reward
With golden mansions and free board
Who'll get the best the heavens afford?

The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Father's Arm Broken by Son

Alex Wilson, living on the Dudley Briggs farm near Austin, went to Chillicothe a few days ago, absorbed too much "red eye" and went back to his home, where he became involved in a quarrel with his son, Roy, during which squabble a fight took place and the elder Wilson's arm was broken by the boy.

After his arm was broken, Wilson went to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Seymour Layton, of near Austin. No arrests have been made, as it is claimed young Wilson acted in self defense.

Winipeg, Man., Jan. 6.—Mounted policemen have reported that eight bodies—those of six men, a woman and a child—were found frozen under the great snow that has fallen within the last 48 hours in the territory 80 miles north of this city. The child was clasped to the woman's bosom. The bodies were found at the edge of a ranch. Three dead horses were found in harness near the bodies. A covered wagon, empty, save for a few cooking utensils evidently had been abandoned by the party.

Heat Inadequate For Waiting-rooms

Much complaint has been made by passengers because the heating plant at the Union Station is insufficient to keep the waiting rooms comfortable during the extremely cold weather like that of Friday and Saturday.

The boiler has been kept on a pressure greatly in excess of what it should in order to keep the rooms heated properly, but the radiation is insufficient to warm the rooms, and passengers have huddled about the radiators and kept warm, or remained on the seats in the room and shivered with the cold.

GREAT changes have come about recently. There is a BETTER FEELING EVERYWHERE AMONG ALL CLASSES. In fact, there is but one class now. Why, in England princesses associate with grocers' wives, all working for the common good.

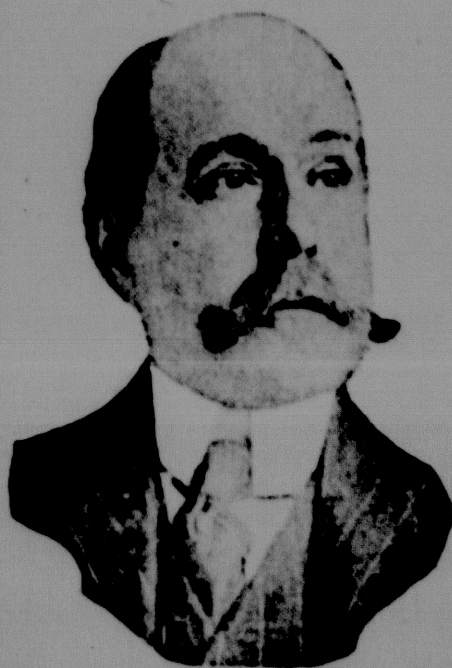

Here in America the same feeling of fellowship, of equality, prevails. There has been a GREAT AWAKENING.

THE RICH ARE RISING MORE AND MORE TO THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF WEALTH; THE WORKING CLASSES ARE ESCAPING FROM THE TYRANNY OF THEIR LEADERS.

Now laboring men will refuse to be subject to the tyranny of a few families. They will learn to speak for themselves.

There are NO MORE ARISTOCRATS. We are all brothers, Americans!

GOD'S OWN.

When Greeks and Romans still wore tails,
And lived in trees, at bugs and snails,
Who dwelt like kings in peaceful vales?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

When Hebrews lived on lizzard pies,
And fed their children worms and flies,
Who were God-fearing, kindly, wise?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Way back when things had just been made,
Who in bright splendor all arrayed
Led off in every grand parade?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

O'Killes, traitor, shame on you
To call yourself Achilles; Pooh!
More honor had you claimed kin to
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

When Adam ate the apple and
From Paradise was promptly
"canned"
Who were the first to grasp his hand?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Who cheered up Eve when things were dark,
Drew up the plans for Eden Park,
Helped Noah navigate his ark?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Who was it sent the lowest bids,
To build the ancient pyramids,
Who was it but those hustling kids?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

Who was it that invented war,
Whose praise is sung in ancient lore,
Who was the world created for?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans.

And when on Judgment Day the Lord
Picks out the chosen to reward
With golden mansions and free board
Who'll get the best the heavens afford?
The Dunns, O'Tools and Flanigans

Father's Arm Broken by Son

Alex Wilson, living on the Dudley Briggs farm near Austin, went to Chillicothe a few days ago, absorbed too much "red eye" and went back to his home, where he became involved in a quarrel with his son, Roy, during which squabble a fight took place and the elder Wilson's arm was broken by the boy.

After his arm was broken, Wilson went to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Seymour Layton, of near Austin. No arrests have been made, as it is claimed young Wilson acted in self defense.

Eight Freeze to Death.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 6.—Mounted policemen have reported that eight bodies—those of six men, a woman and a child—were found frozen under the great snow that has fallen within the last 48 hours in the territory 80 miles north of this city. The child was clasped to the woman's bosom. The bodies were found at the edge of a ranch. Three dead horses were found in harness near the bodies. A covered wagon, empty, save for a few cooking utensils evidently had been abandoned by the party.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 6.—The government thermometer here registered 4 degrees below zero, the lowest of the winter.

Heat Inadequate
For Waiting-rooms

Much complaint has been made by passengers because the heating plant at the Union Station is insufficient to keep the waiting rooms comfortable during the extremely cold weather like that of Friday and Saturday.

The boiler has been kept on a pressure greatly in excess of what it should in order to keep the rooms heated properly, but the radiation is insufficient to warm the rooms, and passengers have huddled about the radiators and kept warm, or remained on the seats in the room and shivered with the cold.

Reath who, in 1894 and 1895, under the direction of Mr. Hanna, traveled broadcast through the land solidifying delegates to the national convention of 1896 for McKinley. It is the belief of many Republicans that Mr. Reath can organize the remnants of the old Hanna machine into a nucleus which may become a cohesive power in determining the selection of a Republican candidate in Chicago in June. The attitude of the president's supporters has not altered one jot. They believe that if the president can not win in the approaching national struggle, no Republican can.

Pardoned Convict Will Wed Wife of Deceased Brother.

Columbus, O., Jan. 6.—That he may be able to take care of his nephews and nieces, of whom there are seven, children of a dead brother, George Sheets, serving 15 years from Lucas county for chicken stealing, was pardoned by Governor Harmon. Today he left the penitentiary and tonight in Toledo he will be a bridegroom.

The bride-to-be is his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sheets, whom Sheets has agreed to marry that he may be a father to her children. Mrs. Sheets has agreed, too, and will be ready for the knot-tying as soon as Sheets gets home with the license to greet his ready-made family.

TORY HEAD RETIRES

Balfour No Longer a Leader in British Parliament.

Importance of His Position as National and Parliamentary Guide—Held the Post of Premier for a Decade.

London.—It is difficult for an American to understand and appreciate the immense sensation produced in England by the retirement of A. J. Balfour from the leadership of the opposition party in the house of commons, and in the whole country. The office of opposition party leader carries with it a recognition of authority that has no exact counterpart in the United States. Mr. Balfour, in addition to having been the chosen floor leader, combined with that responsible position one of greater responsibility—leadership of his party as a whole, both outside as well as in Parliament, a stewardship that came to him through having held the office of prime minister. He had been the titular head of his party for 20 years, in office and out of office.

Additional prestige was conferred upon Mr. Balfour's position as party and floor leader by the unquestioned certainty that should his political following regain ascendancy, he would be the most powerful personage in the British empire, possessing in that domain a combination of the authority possessed in the United States by the president, the cabinet, the speaker of the house of representatives, the majority leader on the floor and in lesser degree the functions of the vice-president as presiding officer of the senate.

This great power, augmented recently by the right given the commons to nullify the veto privilege of the lords, would not depend on the sanction of any national convention—it would come to Mr. Balfour as his unquestioned right solely by virtue of his office as leader of the opposition, just as he held the latter position because of his previous service as chief executive. No question of a "third term" ever arises in England to complicate the course of political power. Gladstone was premier five times; Lord Salisbury held that high office three times; Balfour was majority leader in the house of commons for ten consecutive years—a longer period of continuous leadership of the house than that of any minister since William Pitt.

The exercise of such great political power continuously throughout the better part of a lifetime, requires a strong intellect and great knowledge of men and affairs. Mr. Balfour was undoubtedly brilliant, and started with the inestimable advantage of a thorough apprenticeship in foreign affairs under his famous uncle, Lord Salisbury. Mr. Balfour is politically the last of the great Cecils, that wonderful family which has always taken a prominent place in the forefront of English political life from the time of Burleigh, Queen Elizabeth's great minister, consistently and continuously until the present day. They belonged to the self-constituted and practically unquestioned ruling caste of the nation. Their energies were not expended for the gratification of material desires—they threw themselves willingly and wholeheartedly into the service of their country, partly because of their love of power, but mainly from a high-minded sense of duty as they saw it. But their sway is over—benevolent as it may have been in many ways. Radicalism and democracy have invaded the sanctum sanctorum of their dominance—the house of lords is no longer the invulnerable stronghold of their class. The leadership of the Unionist party in the commons has been given to a Scotch manufacturer, born in Canada, Bonar Law.

HARD JOB OF UMPIRE

Arbiter Must Give His Decisions Without Hesitation.

Combination of Attributes Required of Official Difficult to Find in Any Individual—Qualifications Enumerated.

In one of the chapters of his book, "America's National Game," A. G. Spalding makes a plea for the umpire, and as his connection with the game, not only as a player, but as a club owner and league director, enabled him to get a better focus than the player or spectator, who can generally only see their own side of the case, his judgment must be taken as expert opinion. Mr. Spalding says:

"To secure the presence of intelligent, honest, unprejudiced, quick-witted, courageous umpires at all contests in scheduled games has been one of the most vexatious problems confronting those in control of our national sport. The combination of attributes required is very difficult to find in any individual. It is not easy to put one's hand upon a man who possesses any two of these several qualifications; and yet the efficient umpire must have them all.

"The umpire must be intelligent. And by intelligence I do not mean that he must have education or culture. The best umpire in the National league would not shine in a gathering of college professors. But he could outclass the entire faculty of any university in America when it comes to quickly decide the fine points of a game of baseball, and that because he has the peculiar quality of intelligence required for his duties.

"The umpire must be honest. A crooked umpire at a ball game is as offensive as a scoundrelly jurist on the bench. His power to beget disgust for the sport is even greater than that of the judge to bring the law into reproach. The umpire does not deal with unfamiliar, abstruse legal technicalities, whose veiled meaning needs to be explained by the citations of other judges in other cases in other courts. He must hand down his decision instantly before an audience composed of hundreds who know baseball law as well as he—or who think they do.

"He must be absolutely without prejudice. Did you ever think what that means? Consult your own feelings at the next contest you witness. Note how perfectly free you are from bias against the visitors.

"The umpire must be quick-witted. He may not, like the wise old owl of the bench, look over his gold-rimmed eyeglasses, inform the assembled multitude that he will 'take the matter under advisement,' and then adjourn court for a week or two to satisfy himself how he ought to decide. He must be 'Johnny on the spot' with a decision hot off the griddle, and he must stick to it, right or wrong—or be lost.

"The umpire must be courageous. With perfect composure and dignity he must render judgment, though he knows that in so doing he is likely to precipitate a riot, with himself as the object of a cowardly mob's unreasoning frenzy."

NOTED CAREER ENDS

John Bigelow, a Famous Diplomatist and Author.

Fame Won as Editor and Representative of America in France During Civil War—His Life's Span 94 Years.

New York.—John Bigelow, Sr., diplomatist and author, died at his home in this city, aged ninety-four years.

Mr. Bigelow, sometimes termed the "first gentleman of New York," was almost the last connecting link between the great men of the first half of the nineteenth century and the present day. Born at Malden, Ulster county N. Y., in 1817, of a well-known family, he was prominently associated with the great men and the determining movements of the country during his entire life.

In 1849, at the invitation of William Cullen Bryant, Mr. Bigelow became an editor of the New York Evening Post, in which position he continued until 1860. Under his editorship the paper came to a great influence.

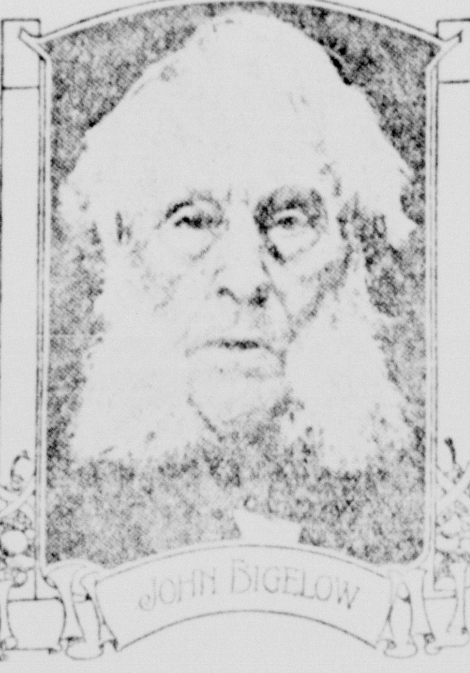

Sainte Beuve's critical letters were published under his supervision. Walt Whitman was a reporter and later a war correspondent under Mr. Bigelow. Artemus Ward worked for the paper at the time; and it was at this period that Bret Harte was remarkably regular at the office on pay days.

Mr. Bigelow's series of articles on the effects of slavery in the West Indies worked up some of the feeling which made Lincoln's election possible in 1860, and at the emancipator's urging the editor went as minister to France during the troublous times of the civil war.

In France Mr. Bigelow succeeded to much the same power and position that Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson had held more than 50 years previously.

It was at this time that Mr. Bigelow discovered Franklin's "Autobiography," of which he edited the authoritative edition. Later a "Life of Benjamin Franklin" was written and edited.

Mr. Bigelow was appointed an executor of the estate of Samuel J. Tilden, and in addition to his ordinary duties as an executor he undertook those of the literary administrator. Tilden's "Writings" were published and later a "Life of Samuel J. Tilden" was written.

During all this time a constant stream of magazine articles, pamphlets and books were coming from the ambassador-editor. His literary activities were frequently interrupted by other political appointments and honorary positions given him, but since 1867 his main thought was given to his writings.

His "Life of William Cullen Bryant," with whom he was associated so many years, was published in 1893, and in 1908, at the age of ninety-one years, his greatest work, "Retrospections of an Active Life," was published in three volumes. Bigelow's "Retrospections" covered more than half of the life of the nation.

To the very last Mr. Bigelow kept a clear head and an active mind for all the problems of the nation, "writing with the ease and the elegance of the older school and with an accuracy all his own on every subject that interested him."

Two sons of the aged author, Major John Bigelow, Jr., of the United States army and Poulney Bigelow, the writer, have attained distinction in their respective fields. Mr. Bigelow was a trustee of the New York public library, of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and a member of many learned and honorary societies in this country and abroad.

Pastor Is Some Farmer.

Sandusky, O.—Not satisfied with the good work he is doing in saving souls, Rev. C. H. Schoepfle, of Birmingham, has set out to show the farmers of this neighborhood that his duties are not so arduous but that they give him time to work a few wonders in agriculture.

Considerable rivalry has been excited among the farmers of this neighborhood in ability to grow prodigies in the various agricultural products. It was started early this fall when Frank Kuhl produced some enormous ears of corn. Others sprang up from time to time to claim recognition, but Rev. Mr. Schoepfle bided his time. The secret of his plans came to light when he drove to town with two enormous carrots, which tipped the scales at six and three-quarters pounds.

Turkey's Mid-Europe Remnant

The only remnant of Turkey left in, one may say, mid-Europe is the island of Ada Kaleh, on the Danube. It still belongs to Turkey, but is under the protection of Austria, and is an important point, which, in eventualities, would command the navigation of the river. The island was once a strong fortress, and is still garrisoned by a detachment of Austro-Hungarian soldiers, who have "look-outs" at each point of vantage. From the gate of the strongly fortified bastion one can see the citadel, with its bazaars and primitive cafes flanking the narrow streets. The mosque is richly draped with valuable carpets, but otherwise is a very plain building. The sultan, to keep the island inhabited by Turkish people, sends as a gift each year a shipload of coffee, tobacco, sugar, sweets, and various other commodities and they have the privilege of selling their coffee and sugar at Orsova, a few miles distant on the Hungarian shore, duty free to the extent of one pound in weight.

"The umpire must be honest. A crooked umpire at a ball game is as offensive as a scoundrelly jurist on the bench. His power to betest disgust for the sport is even greater than that of the judge to bring the law into reproach. The umpire does not deal with unfamiliar, abstruse legal technicalities, whose veiled meaning needs to be explained by the citations of other judges in other cases in other courts. He must hand down his decision instantly before an audience composed of hundreds who know baseball law as well as he—or who think they do.

"He must be absolutely without prejudice. Did you ever think what that means? Consult your own feelings at the next contest you witness. Note how perfectly free you are from bias against the visitors.

"The umpire must be quick-witted. He may not, like the wise old owl of the bench, look over his gold-rimmed eye-glasses, inform the assembled multitude that he will 'take the matter under advisement,' and then adjourn court for a week or two to satisfy himself how he ought to decide. He must be 'Johnny on the spot' with a decision both off the griddle, and he must stick to it, right or wrong—or be lost.

"The umpire must be courageous. With perfect composure and dignity he must render judgment, though he knows that in so doing he is likely to precipitate a riot, with himself as the object of a cowardly mob's unreasoning frenzy."

NOTED CAREER ENDS

John Bigelow, a Famous Diplomatist and Author.

Fame Won as Editor and Representative of America in France During Civil War—His Life's Span 94 Years.

New York.—John Bigelow, Sr., diplomatist and author, died at his home in this city, aged ninety-four years.

Mr. Bigelow, sometimes termed the "first gentleman of New York," was almost the last connecting link between the great men of the first half of the nineteenth century and the present day. Born at Malden, Ulster county, N. Y., in 1817, of a well-known family, he was prominently associated with the great men and the determining movements of the country during his entire life.

In 1849, at the invitation of William Cullen Bryant, Mr. Bigelow became an editor of the New York Evening Post, in which position he continued until 1860. Under his editorship the paper came to a great influence.

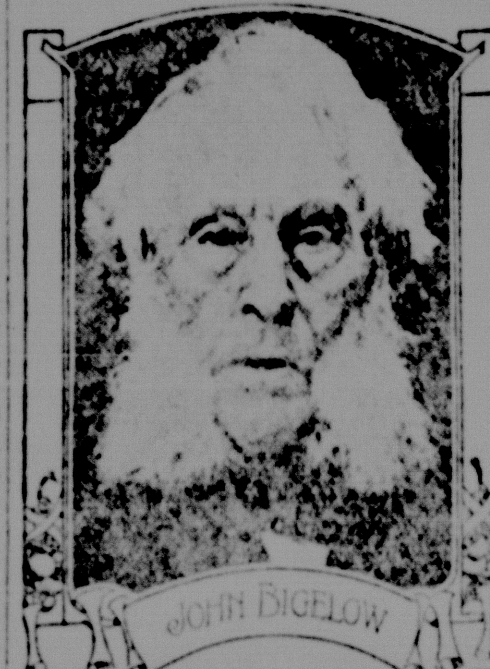

Sainte-Beuve's critical letters were published under his supervision. Walt Whitman was a reporter and later a war correspondent under Mr. Bigelow. Artemus Ward worked for the paper at the time; and it was at this period that "Bret Harte" was remarkably regular at the office on pay days.

Mr. Bigelow's series of articles on the effects of slavery in the West Indies worked up some of the feeling which made Lincoln's election possible in 1860, and at the emancipator's urging the editor went as minister to France during the troublous times of the civil war.

In France Mr. Bigelow succeeded to much the same power and position that Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson had held more than 50 years previously.

It was at this time that Mr. Bigelow discovered Franklin's "Autobiography," of which he edited the authoritative edition. Later a "Life of Benjamin Franklin" was written and edited.

Mr. Bigelow was appointed an executor of the estate of Samuel J. Tilden, and in addition to his ordinary duties as an executor he undertook those of the literary administrator. Tilden's "Writings" were published and later a "Life of Samuel J. Tilden" was written.

During all this time a constant stream of magazine articles, pamphlets and books were coming from the ambassador-editor. His literary activities were frequently interrupted by other political appointments and honorary positions given him, but since 1867 his main thought was given to his writings.

His "Life of William Cullen Bryant," with whom he was associated so many years, was published in 1892, and in 1908, at the age of ninety-one years, his greatest work, "Retrospections of an Active Life," was published in three volumes. Bigelow's "retrospections" covered more than half of the life of the nation.

To the very last Mr. Bigelow kept a clear head and an active mind for all the problems of the nation, "writing with the ease and the elegance of the older school and with an accuracy all his own on every subject that interested him."

Two sons of the aged author, Major John Bigelow, Jr., of the United States army, and Poulney Bigelow, the writer, have attained distinction in their respective fields. Mr. Bigelow was a trustee of the New York public library, of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and a member of many learned and honorary societies in this country and abroad.

Pastor Is Some Farmer.
Sandusky, O.—Not satisfied with the good work he is doing in saving souls, Rev. C. H. Schoepfle, of Birmingham, has set out to show the farmers of this neighborhood that his duties are not so arduous but that they give him time to work a few wonders in agriculture.

Considerable rivalry has been excited among the farmers of this neighborhood in ability to grow prodigies in the various agricultural products. It was started early this fall when Frank Kuhl produced some enormous ears of corn. Others sprang up from time to time to claim recognition, but Rev. Mr. Schoepfle bided his time. The crowd of his plans came to light when he drove to town with two enormous carrots, which tipped the scales at six and three-quarter pounds.

Turkey's Mid-Europe Remnant

The only remnant of Turkey left in, one may say, mid-Europe is the island of Ada Kaleh, on the Danube. It still belongs to Turkey, but is under the protection of Austria, and is an important point, which, in eventualities, would command the navigation of the river. The island was once a strong fortress, and is still garrisoned by a detachment of Austro-Hungarian soldiers, who have "look-outs" at each point of vantage. From the gate of the strongly fortified bastion one can see the citadel, with its bazaars and primitive cafes flanking the narrow streets. The mosque is richly draped with valuable carpets, but otherwise is a very plain building. The sultan, to keep the island inhabited by Turkish people, sends as a gift each year a shipload of coffee, tobacco, sugar, sweets, and various other commodities and they have the privilege of selling their coffee and sugar at Orsova, a few miles distant on the Hungarian shore, duty free to the extent of one pound in weight.

Second Fire of Series Horses Refuse to Move

Small Blaze in Dennis Building on Market Street Calls Fire Department Out This Morning--Third Fire Expected.

A great deal of excitement was created Saturday morning at 9:45 o'clock when the fire bell clanged its warning that fire No. 2 of the series which superstition creates, had made its appearance, and a crowd quickly formed to ascertain its location and extent.

The blaze proved to be a small, but dangerous one, located in the corner immediately back of Dr. Grant Marchant's office in the Dennis building on Market street, opposite the Court House, where flames had caught in a pile of rubbish in the corner between the frame building and the brick structure, threatening the surrounding property.

Owing to the location of the fire, the number of frame buildings surrounding it, and the valuable property adjoining, it would have been a dangerous one if allowed to spread. The Y. M. C. A. building and Worthington block were within 100 feet of the fire.

Most of the blaze was extinguished before the department arrived, as it had not gained much headway, although for a few minutes it leaped above the walls of the building. Sparks from open heaters used in the livery barn adjoining, or sparks from a flue, caused the fire.

Considerable comment was caused when the team attached to the chemical wagon refused to pull, and it was with great difficulty they could be induced to go. When opposite the Cherry Hotel they balked and even severe application of the whip would not induce them to move but a few feet.

This greatly retarded extinguishing the fire, although there luckily was no immediate danger of the fire bursting forth again.

Fire No. 3 is now momentarily expected by the superstitious.

JOHN R. SMITH DIES

IN MT. CARMEL HOSPITAL.

Mr. John R. Smith died Friday night at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, where he was taken two weeks ago for an operation. For some time Mr. Smith has been in poor health and grave fears were entertained from the first.

The deceased belonged to one of Fayette county's well known families and leaves four brothers, E. L., J. C., W. R. and Noah Smith and one sister, Mrs. John Darlington. He was formerly engaged in the tile business and farming in this county, and later spent four years in Oklahoma. Since his return from the West Mr. Smith made his home with his brother, Mr. W. R. Smith, and during the past summer with his nephew, Jesse Glaze, on the Glaze road. He had many friends in the county who will regret to hear of his death.

Misses W. R. Smith and Noah Smith went up to Columbus on the early train Saturday morning, and will accompany Undertaker McCoy back with the remains this afternoon. The remains will be taken to the home of Mr. Noah Smith, but funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

New Manager At New Holland

"SUN" FIELD IS HARD

One of the Greatest Problems in Baseball.

Some Clubs in Trying to Protect Players Expose Fans in the Stands —Left Field in Cleveland is Hardest of Them All.

The hardest position to play in the outfield is the "sun" field, and that is not always the same field, nor are all of them equally difficult.

"Sun" field, by the way, is the ball players' name for the field into which the afternoon sun shines on a direct or almost direct line with the home plate, so that the majority of flies hit to that field come to him out of a blazing background.

At the Polo grounds the left field is the "sun" field, although center field is bothered at certain seasons. At American league park the sun interferes with the right fielder.

What is admitted by all to be the worst in the major leagues is left field in Cleveland, although left field at the Polo grounds in New York is "pretty fierce."

The St. Louis American league grounds have everything else beaten, for both right and center fields are bad "sun" fields whenever the weather is clear. Sometimes even the left fielder there is handicapped, too.

The fan probably wonders why ball parks are not planned so that there will be no "sun" field. That can be done easily enough by making a considerable part of the spectators face the sun, and not only face it, but sit in it most of the game, and that is not comfortable on a hot afternoon.

Detroit and Brooklyn have plants laid out that way and the first base side of the covered stands is no more comfortable than open bleachers in July or August.

Detroit's new plant, now being built, is arranged the other way, because the comfort of the fans is more important to the revenue of the game than the convenience of the outfielders.

It is better to have a fly misjudged occasionally even at the cost of a game than to have a large section of the grandstand shunned by persons unless the place is crowded.

Aside from this sun feature, one would think the outfield positions were alike and equally difficult to play. That is far from the truth.

Each position has its peculiarities, and a man who has played one out field position for a number of years often may be at sea for a while in any other field.

The greatest difference is between center field and either of the other two positions. As a rule long flies or drives that go to the center fielder are hit almost squarely by the batsman, and consequently have little "English" to make them curve.

The majority of flies hit to right or left field, however, will curve in their flight, and the fielder must remember instinctively to allow for this curve when running to get under the ball.

The fly which a right handed batsman hits into right field will curve in the opposite direction to the fly which a left handed batsman hits into left field, but when a man changes from right to left field he takes the curve instinct along with him and merely has to remember which field he is in.

The center fielder who changes to right or left field must acquire the habit of expecting every fly to curve, unless it is a straight liner "pulled" squarely by the batsman.

There is not as much difference between outfield positions as there is on the infield, but there is enough so that a player is left in his so-called "natural" position unless it is necessary to change him.

The physical requirements in the outfield are speed, accuracy in judging flies and surety of catch. The mental requirements are much the same as in any other department.

The outfielder must study the batsman and learn in which direction certain men usually hit certain kinds of pitching.

Knowing the catchers' signs, so that he will know just what is being pitched each time, is of great help to the "wise" outfielder in guessing the direction a ball will take the instant he hears the crack of the bat.

Any one who has watched the outfield of a good team on the defense has seen great expanses of ground left unguarded at times and may have wondered at it.

"There's a reason" always, and it is simply the fielder or the captain has figured out by the same law of averages which governs insurance premiums that the man at the bat is almost certain not to hit the ball into the territory left uncovered.

Knowledge of what to do with the ball when one gets it also is a prime requisite in the outfield. Many a game has been lost by an unwise throw to the plate or to the wrong base.

The outfielder must take into consideration the speed of the men on bases, the lead they have when he gets the ball and the state of the game. A play that would be wise under some conditions would be the height of folly under others.

Cornell Runners May Go Abroad.

A movement is on foot among Cornell undergraduates, and it is expected that the alumni will also join it, to make an effort to send the Cornell cross-country team abroad next summer to meet English teams and possibly continental teams about the time of the Olympic games.

"There's a reason" always, and it is simply the fielder or the captain has figured out by the same law of averages which governs insurance premiums that the man at the bat is almost certain not to hit the ball into the territory left uncovered.

Knowledge of what to do with the ball when one gets it also is a prime requisite in the outfield. Many a game has been lost by an unwise throw to the plate or to the wrong base.

The outfielder must take into consideration the speed of the men on bases, the lead they have when he gets the ball and the state of the game. A play that would be wise under some conditions would be the height of folly under others.

Cornell Runners May Go Abroad.
A movement is on foot among Cornell undergraduates, and it is expected that the alumni will also join it, to make an effort to send the Cornell cross-country team abroad next summer to meet English teams and possibly continental teams about the time of the Olympic games.

Local Man's Home Goes Up in Smoke

The Transit House, a big hotel in Chicago, in which Prof. John Shoop, assistant superintendent of the Chicago Public schools had his home, was burned to the ground Friday night, and one person, a bell boy, was consumed.

Whether Prof. Shoop lost anything in the fire is not known. Many guests of the hotel barely escaped with their lives.

CHANGE OF EYE COLOR

The possibility of a man's eyes changing color as the result of mental shock or physical ill treatment was the subject of an interesting discussion by a number of surgeons in the eye ward of one of the great London hospitals. One of the surgeons stated: "It is common knowledge that great physical hardships may suddenly turn the hair white. The loss of color here follows on certain chemical changes, due to disturbances of nutrition, taking place in the tiny particles of coloring matter which give the hair its color. "All infants at birth have blue eyes. In some babies immediately after birth pigment granules begin to develop in the iris. Thus they become brown or black eyed. In others, however, no such pigment formation takes place and the eyes remain blue or gray throughout life. If this at present blue eyed convict is really the missing brown eyed banker a reasonable explanation of the discrepancy in the eye colorings would be that under the stress of physical and mental shock the coloring matter which he had in early life disappeared, leaving the eyes the original blue coloring present at birth."

NO TELEGRAPH POLES

The use of telegraph poles has been dispensed with entirely by the officials of one Welsh town, by making an arrangement with the property owners to allow the wires to be strung from house to house. There was some hesitation on the part of quite a considerable number, but the desired permission was quite generally secured conditionally in one portion of the town and the improved appearance was so great that there was little trouble in securing the permission of all property holders. Now the new condition is a source of great pride on the part of the residents.

RAT CATCHER OF PARIS

George Menard of Paris holds a unique position, being the official rat catcher of the great system of sewers. Carrying a light and a bag he traverses the sewers and seems to hypnotize the rats, which are captured alive and sold for the training of rat dogs and for rat fights.

TO KEEP WITCHES AWAY

Some curious superstitions are gathered round even so eminently a practical thing as beer. In Scotland it used to be the custom to throw a handful of salt and a little dry malt into the mash to keep the witches from it, and the cautious housewife in houses where they brewed their own beer used to throw a live coal into the vat to save the liquor from the frolicsome interference of fairies. The addition of salt, by the way, to beer in the course of brewing was supposed to be for the unholy purpose of exciting thirst. It may possibly have been used to this end by the unscrupulous, but the real reason was legitimate. Salt moderates the fermentation and makes the liquor fine.

FOSSIL SEA TORTOISE

The perfect fossil of a huge sea tortoise 30 inches in diameter has been found in Mount Baldy, 3,000 feet above the present sea level, near Los Angeles, Cal. It is thought that this is a relic of a geological age 400,000 years ago, when all the western part of the country was still under the sea, and the Rocky mountains were either submerged or only showed their tips as jagged islets.

SAME OLD STYLES

From the fresco paintings of women in Cretan palaces of the period about 2,000 B. C., it is learned that the women of that time pinched in their waists, had flounced or accordion plaited skirts, wore an elaborate coiffure, shoes with high heels and hats which might have come from a Parisian hat shop, while one woman might be described as wearing a jupe culotte.

SKIN FOR SANDPAPER

An ancient mariner and fisherman says he well remembers when the dried skin of the dogfish was used for sandpaper, and good sharp cutting stuff it was, too. The old salt further says there are many sorts of imitation dried cod on the market and that the tail of a young dogfish is fine tried.

Missing Man Found

R. A. Hillard, the plumber employed by the Allen Construction Co. who had been mysteriously missing since the fire, showed up Saturday morning, having been ill at his boarding place in the southern part of the city.

Mr. Hillard had gotten wet and suffered a near attack of pneumonia, confining him to his bed.

"CASTLE" ON PUGET SOUND

On the summit of a high hill back of Port Townsend, Washington, the state's port of entry, and overlooking the town, stands a unique building, much resembling a castle. In the early days, when there were no neighboring residences, the structures often underwent searching scrutiny by eyes aboard ship peering through binoculars or field glass, as it does to this day when some sharp-visioned tourist picks it out as something distinct from the ordinary type of building. The "castle," as the structure is called by the people of the town, was built many years ago, in boom times, by an eccentric Englishman, who through his habits and eccentricities was known as a hermit. There are, perhaps, few building locations in the United States affording views as grand as the one where this freak in architecture stands. It stands nearly 300 feet above sea level, immediately overlooking a beautiful little bay with numerous inlets, and beyond great stretches of America's fringed and greatest inland water way, Puget Sound. In the distance are the green foothills, and beyond the majestic Olympic range, snow-capped the year 'round, and behind which old Sol sinks from sight amid a wealth of color month in and out.

After the old Englishman's death, "the castle" passed to the United States, acquired by purchase of land for use as a military reservation. The building is of brick, and is substantially built and well finished within.

ELECTRICITY AND CROPS

Mr. Priestly of Bristol university has again drawn attention to the remarkable results of the application of high tension electricity to growing crops. Not only is a larger yield obtained, which is important to the farmer, but, in the case of fruit crops, such as strawberries, the fruit ripens some days earlier, a matter of the utmost importance to the market gardener. The present method of electrification is by means of wires stretched some distance above the growing crops. The effects may be described as an intensification of the action of the thunder-cloud, and might be equally startling to the heedless investigator. The original method of electrification was to water the crops from electrically charged cans, and the effect of this, says the University Correspondent, was similar to that of the thunder shower.

AN 80-MILE PRECIPICE

Capt. C. G. Rawling, a member of the British expedition that recently explored Dutch Guiana, describes what may be the greatest unbroken precipice in the world. It runs, he says, for a distance of 80 miles from Mount Carstenz westward to the Charles Louis mountains. Its greatest sheer height is at Mount Leonard Darwin. The explorers were never in a position to measure with the theodolite a sheer height of this immense precipice exceeding 6,500 feet, but from many views obtained of it while he was climbing Captain Rawling has no hesitation in stating that the greatest perpendicular height is not less than 10,500 feet, or almost exactly two miles.

SEA-DRAGON OF AUSTRALIA

Here is one of the wonders of the deep sea, the sea-dragon of Australia. It is so richly ornamented with loose and flapping ribbons of skin that it reminds one much of the fearsome creature that has been adopted as the national emblem of China.

BURMESE SPELLS

Some curious sidelights on the Burman's character are contained on a report on the work of the Archaeological survey in Burmah, says the Times of India. It is stated that the Burman highly prizes the following gems: Ruby, diamond or crystal, pear, coral, topaz, sapphire, cat's-eye, amethyst and emerald. Collectively they ward off sickness or danger. The cat's eye is supposed to secure invulnerability in war. Incantations are muttered over some or all of these stones, and the water in which they are immersed is drunk in order to secure immunity from all evil. Spells are uttered over rubies, and they are inserted as amulets in the flesh of men who desire to be immune from wounds inflicted by sword, spear or gun.

JEWEL WEIGHS 243 POUNDS

Jewel experts throughout the world have been thrown into a state of excitement by the appearance of a beryl that weighs 243.1 pounds, and is 18.9 inches high, and from 15.75 inches to 16.5 inches in width. This is the largest beryl ever found, and is reported to have been sold by its finder for nearly $25,000. The beryl was picked up by a Turk in the state of Minas Geraes, Brazil. Its color is a greenish blue, and it is absolutely free from impurities.

Training Nurses Free Scholarships

The Philadelphia School for Nurses, 2219 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, announces that enrollment for the spring classes will shortly begin. This institution is recognized and endorsed by leading physicians everywhere. Free scholarships in the two-year course are available and provide room, board, laundering, incidental expenses and railroad fare home on completion of the course. A Home Study course and a resident Short Course are also provided. The school provides full instruction under safe and wholesome conditions and opens the way to almost immediate financial betterment for those who need to increase their earning power.

A Special Short Course class opens February 21st, 1912. This class is formed at the request of leading physicians who are anxious that some provision be made to meet the increasing demand for nurses in all sections. This is an opening which will be appreciated by those who need to quickly prepare themselves for self-support and nursing duty. An illustrated number of the School Bulletin, which is sent free to interested persons, gives all the details.

Dr. J. E. Furry, of Springfield, was a visitor in town Friday, having come down on a visit to his aged mother, who resides west of Staunton. Mrs. Furry has been ill for some time, but now shows signs of improvement.

A HERO IN A LIGHTHOUSE.

For years J. S. Donahue, So. Haven, Mich., a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself, if Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so called cures for years, without benefit and they also improved my sight. Now, at seventy, I am feeling fine." For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they're without equal. Try them. Only 50 cts. at Blackmer & Tanquary.

C., it is learned that the women of that time pinched in their waists, had flounced or accordeon plaited skirts, wore an elaborate diffure, shoes with high heels and hats which might have come from a Parisian hat shop, while one woman might be described as wearing a jupe culotte.

SKIN FOR SANDPAPER

An ancient mariner and fisherman says he well remembers when the dried skin of the dogfish was used for sandpaper, and good sharp cutting stuff it was, too. The old salt further says there are many sorts of imitation dried cod on the market and that the tail of a young dogfish is fine dried.

"CASTLE" ON PUGET SOUND

On the summit of a high hill back of Port Townsend, Washington, the state's port of entry, and overlooking the town, stands a unique building, much resembling a castle. In the early days, when there were no neighboring residences, the structures often underwent searching scrutiny by eyes aboard ship peering through binoculars or field glass, as it does to this day when some sharp-visioned tourist picks it out as something distinct from the ordinary type of building. The "castle," as the structure is called by the people of the town, was built many years ago, in boom times, by an eccentric Englishman, who through his habits and eccentricities was known as a hermit. There are, perhaps, few building locations in the United States affording views as grand as the one where this freak in architecture stands. It stands nearly 300 feet above sea level, immediately overlooking a beautiful little bay with numerous inlets, and beyond great stretches of America's fir-tingled and greatest inland water way, Puget Sound. In the distance are the green foothills, and beyond the majestic Olympic range, snow-capped the year 'round, and behind which old Sol sinks from sight amid a wealth of color month in and out.

After the old Englishman's death, "the castle" passed to the United States, acquired by purchase of land for use as a military reservation. The building is of brick, and is substantially built and well finished within.

ELECTRICITY AND CROPS

Mr. Priestly of Bristol university has again drawn attention to the remarkable results of the application of high tension electricity to growing crops. Not only is a larger yield obtained, which is important to the farmer, but in the case of fruit crops, such as strawberries, the fruit ripens some days earlier, a matter of the utmost importance to the market gardener. The present method of electrification is by means of wires stretched some distance above the growing crops. The effects may be described as an intensification of the action of the thunder cloud, and might be equally startling to the heedless investigator. The original method of electrification was to water the crops from electrically charged cans, and the effect of this, says the University Correspondent, was similar to that of the thunder shower.

AN 80-MILE PRECIPICE

Capt. C. G. Rawling, a member of the British expedition that recently explored Dutch Guiana, describes what may be the greatest unbroken precipice in the world. It runs, he says, for a distance of 80 miles from Mount Carstensz westward to the Charles Louis mountains. Its greatest sheer height is at Mount Leonard Darwin. The explorers were never in a position to measure with the theodolite a sheer height of this immense precipice exceeding 6,500 feet, but from many views obtained of it while he was climbing Captain Rawling has no hesitation in stating that the greatest perpendicular height is not less than 10,500 feet, or almost exactly two miles.

SEA-DRAGON OF AUSTRALIA

Here is one of the wonders of the deep sea, the sea-dragon of Australia. It is so richly ornamented with loose and flapping ribbons of skin that it reminds one much of the fearsome creature that has been adopted as the national emblem of China.

BURMESE SPELLS

Some curious sidelights on the Burman's character are contained on a report on the work of the Archaeological survey in Burmah, says the Times of India. It is stated that the Burman highly prizes the following gems: Ruby, diamond or crystal, pear, coral, topaz, sapphire, cat's-eye, amethyst and emerald. Collectively they ward off sickness or danger. The cat's eye is supposed to secure invulnerability in war. Incantations are muttered over some or all of these stones, and the water in which they are immersed is drunk in order to secure immunity from all evil. Spells are uttered over rubies, and they are inserted as amulets in the flesh of men who desire to be immune from wounds inflicted by sword, spear or gun.

JEWEL WEIGHS 243 POUNDS

Jewel experts throughout the world have been thrown into a state of excitement by the appearance of a beryl that weighs 243.1 pounds, and is 18.9 inches high, and from 15.75 inches to 14.5 inches in width. This is the largest beryl ever found, and is reported to have been sold by its finder for nearly $25,000. The beryl was picked up by a Turk in the state of Minas Gernes, Brazil. Its color is a greenish blue, and it is absolutely free from impurities.

Training Nurses Free Scholarships

The Philadelphia School for Nurses, 2219 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, announces that enrollment for the spring classes will shortly begin. This institution is recognized and endorsed by leading physicians everywhere. Free scholarships in the two-year course are available and provide room, board, laundering, incidental expenses and railroad fare home on completion of the course. A Home Study course and a resident Short Course are also provided. The school provides full instruction under safe and wholesome conditions and opens the way to almost immediate financial betterment for those who need to increase their earning power.

A Special Short Course class opens February 21st, 1912. This class is formed at the request of leading physicians who are anxious that some provision be made to meet the increasing demand for nurses in all sections. This is an opening which will be appreciated by those who need to quickly prepare themselves for self-support and nursing duty. An illustrated number of the School Bulletin, which is sent free to interested persons, gives all the details.

Dr. J. E. Furry, of Springfield, was a visitor in town Friday, having come down on a visit to his aged mother, who resides west of Staunton. Mrs. Furry has been ill for some time, but now shows signs of improvement.

A HERO IN A LIGHTHOUSE

For years J. S. Donahue, So. Haven, Mich., a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself, if Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so called cures for years, without benefit and they also improved my sight. Now, at seventy, I am feeling fine." For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they're without equal. Try them. Only 50 cts. at Blackmer & Tanquary.

Fayette County Farmer in Blizzard

Richard Thornton, a farmer living on the Greenfield pike, is now in Kansas City visiting his two daughters. Mr. Wesley Wilson, a neighbor, this morning received a letter from Mr. Thornton stating, among other things, that a blizzard is now raging in that region and that the temperature is 30 degrees below zero.

Emily bent her head, remedying her mistake with the coffee. She comprehended that her uncle had conceived one of his strong, silent antipathies for the young manager, and she was sorry. Sorry, although, remembering Bailey's unfortunate speech the night Lestrangle's engagement was proposed, she was not surprised. But she looked across to Dick sympathetically. So sympathetically, that after breakfast he followed her into the library, the colored journals in his hand.

"What's the matter with the old gentleman this morning?" he complained. "He wants the business to succeed, doesn't he? If he does, he ought to like what Lestrangle is doing for it. What's the matter with him?" Emily shook back her yellow curls, turning her gaze on him.

"You might guess, Dickie. He is lonely."

"Lonely! Ha!" All the feminine impulse to defend flared up.

"Why not?" she exclaimed with passion. "Who has he got? Who stands with him in his house? No wonder he can not bear the man who is hired to do what a French should be doing. It is not the racing driver he dislikes, but the manager. And do not you blame him, Dick French."

Quite aghast, he stared after her as she turned away to the nearest window. But presently he followed her over, still holding the papers.

"Don't you want to read about the race?" he ventured.

Smiling, though her lashes were

Emily kept her word during the weeks that followed. Through Dick and Bailey she heard of factory affairs; of the sudden increase of orders for the Mercury automobiles, the added prestige gained, and the public favor bestowed on the car. But she saw nothing of the man who was responsible for all this. Instead she went out more than ever before. Their social circle was too painfully exclusive to be large or gay.

Three times a week it was Mr. French's stately custom to visit the factory and inspect it with Bailey. At other times Bailey came up to the house, where affairs were conducted. But in neither place did Mr. French ever come in contact with his manager, during all the months while winter waxed and waned again to spring.

"That's Bailey's doing," chuckled Dick, when Emily finally wondered about it at the circumstance. "He isn't going to risk losing Lestrangle because our high and mighty uncle falls out with him. And it would be pretty likely to happen if they met. Lestrangle has a temper, you know, even if it doesn't stick out all over him like a hedgehog; and a dozen other companies would give money to get him."

Emily nodded gravely. It was a sunny morning in the first of March, and the cousins were at the end of the old park surrounding Frenchwood, where they had strolled before breakfast.

"Mr. Bailey likes Mr. Lestrangle," she commented.

"Likes him! He loves him. You know Lestrangle lives with him; a bachelor household, cozy as grigs."

Just past here ran the road, beyond a high cedar hedge. While he was speaking, the irregular explosive reports of a motor had sounded down the valley, unmistakable to those familiar with the testing of the stripped cars, and rapidly approaching. Now, as Emily would have answered, the roar suddenly changed in character, an appalling series of explosions mingled with the grind of outraged machinery suddenly braked, and some one shouted above the din. The next instant a huge mass shot past the other side of the hedge and there followed a dull crash.

"That's one of our men!" gasped Dick, and plunged headlong through the shrubbery.

Dazed momentarily, Emily stood, then caught up her skirts and ran after him. She knew well enough what the testera of the cars risked.

"Dick!" she appealed. "Dick!"

But it was not the wreck she anticipated that met her eyes as she came through the hedge. On the opposite side of the road a long low skeleton car was standing, one side lurching drunkenly down with two wheels in the gutter. Still in his seat, the driver was leaning over the steering wheel, out of breath, but laughing a greeting to the astonished Dick.

"A break in the steering gear," he declared, by way of explanation. "I told Bailey it was a weak point; now perhaps he'll believe me and strengthen it."

"You're not hurt," Dick inferred. "I think she's not a tire gone. Find anything wrong, Rupert?"

"Two tires off," said the laconic mechanic. "Two funerals postponed. That was a pretty stop, Darling."

"Very," coolly agreed Lestrangle, rising and removing his goggles. "What's the matter, French?"

"You frightened us out of our five sense, that's all. Do you usually practice for races out here?"

"Us?" repeated Lestrangle, and turning, saw the girl at the edge of the park. "Miss French, I beg your pardon!"

The swift change in his tone, the ease of deference with which he bared his head and motor caps not being readily donned or doffed, so remained bareheaded in the bright sunlight, savored of the Continent.

"It is too commonplace to say good morning," Emily replied, her color rising with her smile. "I am very glad you escaped. But that is commonplace, too, I'm afraid."

"Every one is commonplace before breakfast," reassured her cousin. "Honestly, Lestrangle, do you practice racing here?"

"Hardly. I'm trying out the car; every car has to go through that before it is used. Don't you know that we've recently secured from the local authorities a permit to run at any speed over this road between four o'clock and eight in the morning? I thought all the countryside knew that."

"But we have a regiment of men to test cars."

Lestrangle passed a caressing glance over the dingy-gray machine in its state of bareness that suggested indecorum.

"This is my car, the one I'll race this spring and summer. No one drives it but me. Besides, I have to have some diversion."

He stepped to the ground with the last word, and went around to where Rupert was on his knees beside the machine.

"Can you fix it here?" he demanded. "Not precisely," was the drawled reply. "Back to camp for it with a horse in front."

"All right. You'll have to walk down and get a car from Mr. Bailey to tow it home."

Rupert got up, his dark, malign little face twisted.

"If I'd broken a leg they'd have sent a cart for me," he mourned. "Now I'll have to walk, and I ain't used to it. Hard luck!"

"If you go around to the stables they will give you my pony cart," Emily offered impulsively. "You, her dimpling smile gleamed out, "you once put a tire on for me, you know. Please let me return the service."

Rupert's black eyes opened, a slow grin of appreciation crinkled streaks of dust and oil as he surveyed the young girl.

"I'll put tires on every wheel you run into control, day and night shifts," he acknowledged with sweet cordiality. "But I'm no horse-chauffeur, thanks; I guess I'll walk."

"He is a gentle pony," she remonstrated. "Any one can drive him."

He turned a side glance toward the motionless car.

"That's all right, but I'm used to being killed other ways. I'll be going."

"Jack Rupert, do you mean to tell me that you will race with Lestrangle every season, and yet you're afraid to drive a fat cob?" cried the delighted Dick.

"I'm not telling anything. I had a chum who was pitched out by a horse he lost control of, and broke his neck. I'm taking no chances."

"How many men have you seen break their necks out of autos?"

"That's in business," pronounced

"You Are Most Kind."

Rupert succinctly. "I'm going on, Darling; it's only a two-mile run."

"Here, wait," Dick urged. "Emily, I'll stroll around to the stables with him and make one of the men drive him down. You don't mind my leaving you?"

"No," Emily answered. "I will wait for you."

She might have walked back alone if she had chosen. But instead she sat down on a boulder near the hedge, folding her hands in her lap like a demure child. The house was so dull, so hopelessly monotonous contrasted with this fresh, wind-tossed outdoors and Lestrangle in his vigor of life and glamour of ultra-modern adventure.

"You and Mr. French are very good," Lestrangle said presently. "I am afraid I appreciate it more than Rupert, though."

"Is he really afraid of horses?"

"I should not wonder; I never tried him. But he is amazingly truthful."

Their eyes met across the strip of sunny road as they smiled; again Emily felt the sudden confidence, the falling away of all constraint before the direct clarity of his regard.

"You won your race," she said irrelevantly. "I was glad, since you wanted it."

"Thank you," he returned with equal simplicity. "But I did not want it that way, so far as I was concerned."

"Yet, it was the next step?"

"Yes, it was the next step. I meant that one does not care to be victor because the leading cars were wrecked. There is no elation in defeating a driver who lies out on the course. But, as you say, it helped my purpose. You," he hesitated for the right phrase, "you are most kind to recall that I have a purpose."

"Never Mind Me; Let Us Read."

damp, Emily accepted the peace offering.

"Yes, please."

"You're not angry? You know I'm a stupid chump sometimes; I don't mean it."

This time she laughed outright.

"No; I am sorry I was cross. It is I who would like to shirk my work. Never mind me; let us read."

They did read, seated opposite each other in the broad window-seat and passing the sheets across as they finished them. Dick had not exaggerated, on the contrary he had not said enough. Lestrangle and his car were the focus of the hour's attention. The daring, the reckless courage that risked life for victory, the generosity which could throw that victory away to aid a comrade, and lastly the determination and skill which had won the conquest after all the whole formed a feat too spectacular to escape public hysteria. It was very doubtful indeed whether Lestrangle liked his idolizing, but there was no escape.

The two who read were young. "It was a splendid fight," sighed Dick, when they dropped the last page.

"Yes," Emily assented. "When he comes back, when you see him, give him my congratulations."

"When I see him? Why don't you tell him yourself?"

Something like a white shadow wiped the scarlet of excitement from her cheeks, as she averted her face.

"I shall not see him; I shall not go to the factory any more. It will be better, I am sure."

Vaguely puzzled and dismayed, Dick sat looking at her, not daring to question.
